Official Lists Ways to Better Grignon Home

KAUKAUNA — The Grignon Society, made the statement at Home has much to offer to the a meeting of the Grignon Home general public, a state historical Citizens Committee. He suggested the life of the Grignon family could be depicted to show the French influence in the era and the role played in the settling of Wisconsin. Sivesind advised the committee to catalogue items at the home, advertise the area with road signs, display the many official documents in special areas and the home and group items for value of interest.

Raymond S Sivesind, supervisor of sites and markers for the Wisconsin State Historical Society, outlined advantages of affiliation with the state Historical Society. Since the committee would have to be a corporation to join the Society, it would give legal responsibility and recognition to acquiring funds to support various projects at the home, he noted.

Reflectorized License Plates Considered

Proposal Cited as New Safety Measure, Given Some Backing

Paul Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—Reflectorized motor vehicle registration plates the State group in future development of the home. Sivesind indicated the State Society would soon erect a historical marker in the vicinity of the home.

The proposal has been submitted to the legislature's highway problems interim committee for review, through a resolution adopted at the recent summer convention of the county highway commissioners and highway committeemen.

It is understood to have the favorable interest also of State Highway Department officials and some experts in the highway safety field. A spokesman for the state motor vehicle department, which is in charge of plate design, manufacture and distribution, says the idea has been under study for some time.

Such treatment of the auto plates would require some additional cost in manufacture, and thus presumably would be submitted for legislative ratification when the new department budget is considered next winter.

Added Warning

The value of the new plate treatment would consist of providing an additional warning to the driver of an approaching vehicle of the presence of another vehicle in night-time traffic.

The county road officials reportedly were given an effective demonstration of the efficacy of the plates during their recent Door County session, including testimonials from the governors and safety directors of states which have used reflectorized plates and have found them valuable in preventing accidents.

The proposal reaches state officials at a time when there is growing worry about a rising accident rate on Wisconsin highways which if continued will set a new all-time high record of traffic deaths this year.

New Army Reservist Commanding General To Assume Post Today

The new commanding general of the 14th U. S. Army Corps for reservists in a five-state area including Wisconsin is scheduled to take command at Minneapolis today.

He is Maj. Gen. Walter A. Jensen, former commander of the 11th Army Corps at St. Louis.

His new command involves the supervision, administration and training of about 45,000 Army reservists and 10,000 retrainees. He is expected to increase substantially in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and North and South Dakota.

A 1933 graduate of West Point, his early duty included service at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, during the Pearl Harbor attack and command of a tank unit in municipal water mains, but assault invasions of Leyte and that their yield has declined.

Gen. Jensen later served two tours of duty in Korea and on probably be abandoned when a military assistance advisory assignment in Greece.

He and his family will live at a duplex because of a problem of sand pumping.

Wisconsin Delegation

House GOP Members Favoring No Candidate

BY RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wisconsin's House Republicans are taking a wait and see attitude and not committing themselves in advance on whom they favor for the GOP presidential nomination.

Part of the reason is that Wisconsin has its own favorite-son candidate, Rep. John W. Byrnes, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee and the senior GOP member of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Byrnes, along with Rep. Melvin R. Laird and Rep. Henry C. Schadeberg, are members of the 30-man Wisconsin delegation to the GOP National convention opening July 13 in San Francisco.

Former Governor Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, a former governor of the state, said that because he is "a supporter of the John Byrnes favorite - son candidacy" he would not try to advise the Wisconsin delegation as to how it should vote at the convention.

Rep. William K. Van Pelt says he will support whoever is nominated at the convention. Van Pelt has not publicly stated his choice for the nomination.

Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski said he has never actively participated in the selection of a presidential candidate and added: "My district has so many problems economically that all my efforts will be to help in that direction."

Byrnes said the state's delegation to the convention, although committed to him at least on the first ballot, has not been polled and he has encouraged the members not to be polled in advance.

Discuss Position The members of the delegation, he said, will discuss for the first time the position they will take when they meet in San Francisco.

That will be to decide, after released by Byrnes, whether to support the current front runner for the nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona or some other possible contender at that time.

No Bond for 3 Milwaukee Men Held in Shooting LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Three Milwaukee men accused of shooting two state policemen and handcuffing two others to a tree were held in the Lancaster County Jail without bond Tuesday.

The three were captured Sunday after a routine speed check on the Pennsylvania Turnpike developed into a gun fight and massive manhunt near Ephrata.

James E. Szulcowski, 21; Gerald L. Sarson, 17, and Howard E. Langes, 24, were jailed on charges of assault with intent to kill, pointing a deadly weapon and aggravated assault and battery against a police officer.

Two more charges were added—robbery with accomplice while armed and violation of the uniform firearms act. They are scheduled for a hearing later in the week before Justice of the Peace Charles J. Martin. No specific date for the hearing was set.

The two officers who were shot in the gun battle remained in a hospital but were reported improving.

Edward Herbst, 35, of Reamstown, shot in face and neck, was listed in fair condition. Fred W. Bendt, 22, of Nazareth, who was shot in the leg, was in good condition. Herbst had been listed as serious and Bendt as satisfactory.

Byrnes said he will call the delegation together to an early meeting at San Francisco and no course of action will be taken until that time.

This is in keeping, Byrnes said, with the conditions he attached when he agreed to become a favorite - son candidate. He said then he would "not be a stalking horse" for any candidate and would be fair to all possible contenders.

"I will invite all the potential candidates to meet with the Wisconsin delegation," Byrnes said. "I am taking a neutral attitude up to that time."

Laird, chairman of the Republican platform committee, said he had made a firm commitment with Goldwater, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and others in the party not to indicate his preference for the nomination until after the platform was adopted. Thompson said he believes Wisconsin will go Republican in the November election in the presidential race and that former Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles, the Republican candidate for governor, will defeat Democratic Gov. John Reynolds, who is seeking a second term.

Missing U. S. Pilot Held by Red Guerrillas

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP)—Prince Souphanouvong confirmed Tuesday an American pilot whose reconnaissance plane was shot down by the Communists June 6 was captured by the Pathet Lao.

The pilot was identified in Washington as Navy Lt. Charles F. Klusmann, 30, San Diego, Calif. His plane was reported shot down over the Ban Ban area, which is 15 miles northeast of this Pathet Lao headquarters.

The Pathet Lao chieftain told reporters who visited Khang Khay he received a radio report saying that the pilot was captured by Pathet Lao troops in the Ban Ban area. He said he now is waiting for further details.

Klusmann is the second American to be in Pathet Lao captivity.

Last September a commercial airman Eugene Debruin from Kaukauna, Wis., was captured by the Pathet Lao when his Air America transport plane was shot down near Tchepone, in southern Laos, on a supply dropping mission.

Another Pathet Lao official, Phoumi Vongvichit, in answer to a question, said it will be impossible now for International Red Cross representatives to see the American prisoners because "it will be unsafe for foreigners to see them due to insecurity created in the country by the American imperialists."

Coenen Family Boards 'Hope' for Roundabout Bus Tour to World Fair

BY CHARLES HOUSE

Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Summer vacation for the Clyde Coenen family of 2646 W. Spencer St. is on a Flexible schedule, a sort of wayfaring lark which will take them to the World's Fair at New York.

Flexible — that's the name of the rebuilt commercial bus which is serving as both the home and the vehicle of six members of the Coenen family. Wayfaring — that's what the family is doing over a planned 3,000-mile journey taking them to points of interest on and sometimes off the course of their travel route.

Lark — that's what they intend to be on — like wandering minstrels.

The bus, manufactured in 1954 by the Flexible Co., Londonville, Ohio, is 38 feet long, a former native of Missouri, and not very much like her former self. She (her name is Hope) has been converted — ingeniously, too — into a compact mobile home complete with air conditioning, ceramic tile shower, wash room, freezer, refrigerator and building too.

kitchen sink. The deft senior Coenen has contrived to make a dining room with booth which converts into a something more than 100,000 size bed, and a storage chest-over-the-road miles behind it, davenport which becomes a challenge. Every double bed plus a seat which inch of the old bus turned into slides forward to enable some- one to sit next to the driver. There's another full-sized double bed, a six-foot closet and other storage space.

The big blue-and-cream color- ed bus is the property of Rich- ard Kos of Green Bay, who drove it one day to the Coenen was ready for a trip home and cozened Coenen into Last Autumn, Kos took converting it "Will you fix it 'Hope' to Acapulco Mexico up," he asked ingenuously, "the where the tired old engine had to be replaced. Last winter, it was like waving a flag at Coenen and Kos along with oth- er whiskey friends went on a handy-man, lumber-sales man deer-antelope hunt near Mis- sula, Mont. where some- one's do-it-yourselfing Years ago, generator trouble developed as a college student in Madison. But the decision of the county road commissioners and com- mitteemen, in their convention held in cooperation with the State Highway Department, to put their concern about truck speeding into a formal com- munication was regarded as in- dicating dissatisfaction with the strength of the state enforce- ment program.

The bus now sleeps five adults comfortably; and is just right for this six-member con- tingent of the Coenen family.

The senior Coenen estimates that the cost of operating the converted bus will be about seven cents a mile. On that bas- is, he considers that the educa- tional trip will save about two- thirds of the normal costs of heavy truck speeds on the high- living in hotels and dining in restaurants.

The full history of the bus is not known. However, the desig- nation of bus destinations on the front indicates that her route in- cluded St. Louis and other Mis- souri cities. One of the cities specified on the destination roll- over for trucks of more than 10,000 pounds of weight on most of the rural highways.

When the bus was obtained last year, the legend printed on its sides read "ZION PASSION PLAYERS" so it is presumed that Hope was once the convey- ance of a troupe of wandering minstrels.

The converted bus has been converted to a conveyance of fairly common in his agency, but commented that "we are doing the best we can with the

Motor Vehicle Staff Says Patrol Enforces Limits Best It Can

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Highway admin- istrators are worried about the heavy truck speeds on the high- ways under their jurisdiction.

County road officials have sent a convention resolution to the State Motor Vehicle Depart- ment asking its traffic patrol to bear down on enforcement of the state law which imposes a maxi- mum speed limit of 45 miles an hour for trucks of more than 10,000 pounds of weight on most of the rural highways.

An exception is on the new federal interstate system, where speeds of up to 55 miles an hour for such vehicles are per- mitted.

A spokesman for the Motor Vehicle Department said com- plaints about truck speeds are fairly common in his agency, but commented that "we are doing the best we can with the men we have available." He said special truck enforce- ment details are on duty on the roads, and that they are using special enforcement tools includ- ing concealed radar equipment. But the decision of the county road commissioners and com- mitteemen, in their convention held in cooperation with the State Highway Department, to put their concern about truck speeding into a formal com- munication was regarded as in- dicating dissatisfaction with the strength of the state enforce- ment program.

The department now has an authorized strength of 250 men, but because the personnel turn- over is high, the actual number of officers in the field is only about 200 at some periods.

"Tests have proved that exces- sive speeds of heavy vehicles ar a factor in highway failures," the county commissioners' res- olution declared, and large ve- hicles travelling at high speeds create a hazard for passing ve- hicles."

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH With Little Worry

Eat, talk, laugh or sneeze without fear of insecure false teeth dropping, slipping or wobbling. FASTEETH holds plates firmer and more comfortably. This pleasant powder has no gummy, rosey, pasty taste or feeling. Doesn't cause nausea. It's alkaline (non-acid). Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

Record $329,310 For Heart Research

A record $329,310 has been allocated by the Wisconsin Heart Association to support 42 research studies in the state and on the national level.

Appleton residents contrib- uted $8,766 to the 1964 Heart fund drive.

Heart research studies in Wis- consin will be conducted at 42 medical schools at the Univer- sity of Wisconsin, Marquette University, Milwaukee, the Wisconsin Heart Associa- tion, and at the Marshfield Clinic, Marshfield.

The $329,310 represents nearly 49 per cent of the association's total 1964-65 budget.

Of the total budget, $84,771 is given to the American Heart Association to help support na- tional research. A portion of this returns to Wisconsin re- search centers in the state.

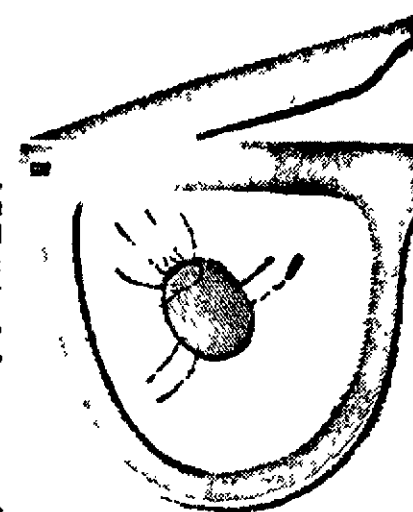

Dr. Charles W. Crumpton, Madison, president of Wisconsin Heart Association, said that $2.- million schools at the Univer- sity of Wisconsin, Marquette University, Milwaukee, the Wisconsin Heart Associa- tion, and at the Marshfield

Power Firm Gas Extension Okayed by PSC

Work to Begin on Service in Village, Town of Greenville

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission has approved a $220,050 gas main extension in the Town of Greenville by the Wisconsin Michigan Power Company, Appleton.

The project will extend an existing main in the Town of Grand Chute westward on U.S. 10 to the intersection with State 76.

It then will go northwest to the intersection of State 76 and U.S. 45. From there the extension will go north along State 76, and one-half mile through the Village of Greenville.

The purpose of the extension is to serve natural gas to residential subdivisions already developing in the area and to make gas available to future commercial and industrial developers which might locate northwest of Appleton.

Construction is expected to begin in about two weeks, with completion scheduled for about six weeks later, assuming favorable weather conditions.

The Public Service Commission has announced that, to avoid future controversy between the Power Company and Milwaukee Gas Light Co. about areas to be served in the area, the two firms have agreed to a division of territory in the Town of Greenville.

The Milwaukee firm now delivers natural gas in the village of Hortonville, a part of which is contiguous to the Town of Greenville. The firm ultimately wants to provide service in that part of the Town of Greenville which may develop as a part of the Village of Hortonville.

Former Kaukauna Man Receives Promotion in Milwaukee Gas Firm

A former Kaukauna man has been promoted to purchasing agent for Milwaukee Gas Light Company, effective July 1, it was announced Monday by Howard J. Tobin, company president.

He is Francis P. Cooney, who succeeds Arnold E. Altenhofen. Altenhofen is retiring after 51 years of service with the utility. Cooney presently is manager of stores.

He joined Winnebago Natural Gas Corporation at Kaukauna in 1957 as a staff construction engineer. When Winnebago was purchased by Milwaukee Gas Light Company in 1960, he became a construction engineer for Milwaukee Gas Light's district operations. In 1963 he was promoted to manager of stores.

Cooney is a native of Plymouth, Wisconsin, where he attended elementary and high schools. He attended Marquette University School of Engineering prior to serving with the Air Force during World War II.

Following service he worked for 10 years with engineering motor pool where municipal consulting firms in various parts of the country.

He is married and has four sons and a daughter. He lives in Port Washington.

Saddle-Weary Riders Head West After Stop in Appleton

BY ROY F. VALITCHKA II
Post-Crescent Regional Editor

Some 62 saddle-weary youths and adult advisors swayed into Appleton western style Tuesday night, and it hasn't yet been determined who is enjoying the 300 mile jaunt more, the horses or their riders.

Wisconsin Teens on Parade moved into Pierce Park and the Legion Club grounds on the fourth day of a trip destined to take them to Rhinelander and Fort Wilderness by June 23.

The ride, sponsored by Wisconsin Youth for Christ and Fort Wilderness Camp (aimed at developing in youth an allegiance for Christ in an outdoor camping experience) sports Western stage coach and buffalo burgers.

Buffalo burgers, advisors say, are hoped to pay costs of the trip.

Spirit, Enthusiasm

The riders so far have stopped overnight at Menomonee Falls, starting point, West Bend, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh. From Appleton the riders went today to New London where they participated in a parade and talent show.

Aim of the ride is to teach teen-agers of all faiths to live daily for Christ and give them an outlet for spirit and enthusiasm.

There are 34 horses divided

Plans for New $800,000 Municipal Garage Unveiled

Construction on Lyndale Drive Expected to be Started in Fall

Preliminary plans for a new $800,000 Appleton municipal garage were unveiled Tuesday at a meeting of the board of public works.

They were prepared by Orbison and Orbison, Inc., engineers, of Appleton.

The present city garage at 924 W. Spencer St. has outlived its usefulness, according to city officials. It will eventually be abandoned and sold.

There has been talk over the years of a new garage for Appleton, but the planning didn't get underway in earnest until earlier in the year after the city council okayed hiring an architect.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues told the board it took months to gather data necessary to prepare the preliminary plans for the new building which will be located near the industrial park on the city's southwest side.

Explains Plans

Tom Orbison, representing the engineering firm, explained the plans in detail, and with the board made some revisions to the garage layout.

The proposed new municipal facility will be of masonry and steel frame construction, having 99,000 square feet of floor space.

The department of public works — including the street, sanitation and maintenance divisions — along with the park, recreation, electrical and sign-painting departments, will be located in the new municipal garage.

One huge area will be for a motor pool where municipal equipment will be stored and maintained. It will have parking stalls for 120 vehicles.

In addition to several other rooms, including some administrative offices, the garage will have a machine shop.

Parking Area

The front of the one - story building will be on Lyndale Drive, along with a parking area for employees and the public.

Orbison explained the building has been designed so that it can be expanded in the future if necessary.

Plans also call for a firing range in the basement of the building for use by the police department and other groups. Estimated cost will be $20,000.

The board asked Orbison to make minor changes to the building layout and bring it back in two weeks.

Once preliminary plans are approved by the board and city council, work will start on the final plans which will take from two to three weeks to finish.

Orbison emphasized the $800,000 was "a rough estimate" and it would not be possible to come up with a firm figure until final plans were approved and bids taken on the project.

Construction of the new garage is expected to start this fall. The council plans to float a bond issue for the project.

Further Action Set In Traffic Death

OSHKOSH — Further proceedings on a homicide by reckless operation of a car charge, against Philip O. Buhrow, 21, miles in total length, consist of several separate projects, ranging from installation of 12 to 60 inch storm and sanitary sewers in various parts of the city.

Approval of the Bahr bid was recommended by the board of public works.

Unsuccessful bidders included Central Construction Co., Oshkosh, $282,776, and Gray-Robinson Construction Co., $296,221.

Other Action

In other action, the board: —Had no objection to State Highway Commission criteria will start immediately.

—Approved a set of procedures to be followed for having men escaped from Kilby Prison have 25 foot clearance. The City of Appleton acquire in Birmingham May 31 and College Avenue and Memorial land through purchase.

—Denied an offer of Du Chateau Real Estate to sell to city property to adjacent to bids to have seven homes razed Hoover park for $14,000.

—Agreed to pay for relocation of Chicago and North Western Railway Co. signals at the Franklin Street crossing, providing the firm paid for the street assessment.

Business Group On Northside Plans Program

Float Sponsorship One of Activities Of Appleton Unit

Summer activities of the Northside Advancement Association began Saturday with the organization's sponsorship of the Rainbow 4-H Club float in the Appleton Flag Day parade.

The association is planning to send a delegation to participate in Appleton Day at the Outagamie County Fair July 16.

Baseball sponsorship is another activity of the group. Besides sponsoring a booster game for the Fox Cities Foxes, the association sponsors the Babe Ruth League, a team in Little League and one in the Northside Classic League.

Annual Picnic

The third annual picnic for members and their families is scheduled for Aug. 2 at Erb Park.

Association members Donald Haynes and Donald Hogue have been appointed to represent NAA businessmen in future consideration of a proposed uniform sign ordinance developed through the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

Clarence Richter, executive secretary of the association, said total membership in the group is 212.

The 4-H club float which NAA sponsored in the Appleton Flag Day Parade was also a part of the Alice in Dairyland parade in Kaukauna and is scheduled to appear in the American Legion parade in Little Chute June 30.

Appleton Sewer Work Low Bid Is $278,500

Bahr Construction Co. of Manitowoc Submits Offer for Installation Project

Bahr Construction Co. of Manitowoc submitted the low bid of $278,517 Tuesday on 12,000 feet of sewer construction for the City of Appleton this summer.

The new mains, more than two miles in total length, consist of several separate projects, ranging from installation of 12 to 60 inch storm and sanitary sewers in various parts of the city.

Unsuccessful bidders included Central Construction Co., Oshkosh, $282,776, and Gray-Robinson Construction Co., $296,221.

—At the suggestion of City Attorney Frederick Froehlich authorized the mayor and public works director to make another offer to purchase to four property owners whose land is needed for the Prospect-Memorial Drive intersection widening. If the city's offers are declined, condemnation proceedings will start immediately.

—Approved a set of procedures to be followed for having men escaped from Kilby Prison have 25 foot clearance. The City of Appleton acquire in Birmingham May 31 and College Avenue and Memorial land through purchase.

—Denied an offer of Du Chateau Real Estate to sell to city property to adjacent to bids to have seven homes razed Hoover park for $14,000.

Residents Object to Park Access Road

Grand Chute Board Stops Construction

Objections to an access road being built through the south end of Plamann Park were heard Tuesday night at a regular meeting of the Grand Chute town board.

The road is being built west from Apple Creek Road to property owned by Mary Lecker and Mrs. Henry Vermeeren, daughters of Grand Chute Town Chairman Arthur Lecker. The road, which has 66 feet of right-of-way, is 742 feet long.

Permission for constructing the road was given to the town by the Outagamie County Board at its April meeting. The county granted the town an easement to build the road through the park after hearing Lecker explain the road would be beneficial to the park itself and to people who would be using that section of the park.

Construction of the road, which crosses a deep ravine in the park, began last Thursday.

Showdown Is Expected Tonight on Appleton's Trash Collection Fight

Mayor to Present Proposal 'To Bring Matter to a Head'

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Appleton Common Council will have a showdown tonight on the trash collection question.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell disclosed Tuesday he intends to submit the recommendation for improved collection service to aldermen "to bring the matter to a head once and for all."

The council's street-sanitation committee has repeatedly made recommendations, along with Public Works Director Robert V. Bues, that the sanitation division be authorized to initiate every-other-week trash pickups.

Once-A-Month

Under the system in effect for Appleton, over a period of several years, trash collections are made once-a-month in residential areas.

As a result, there is a considerable amount of outdoor incinerator trash burning, a practice frowned on by the fire department and health officials.

In recent months recommendations to improve the collection system have been bucked back to committee by a few council members who either fear the change would cost too much, or would rather have a private firm handle pickups on a contract basis.

Milwaukee Firm

It is common knowledge that some city officials have been contacted by a Milwaukee firm which wants to get the contract for trash and garbage collections. First contact was made a year ago.

Under the recommendations pending before the council, the city would continue to have twice-a-week garbage collections.

Last month the council had the report of the street - sanitation committee referred to a committee of the whole meeting without setting a date.

This meeting may materialize tonight if aldermen decide not to debate the issue from the floor.

Increase Terms

It is also possible a proposal to increase terms of elective city officials from two to four years may also be on the agenda.

Although the trash collection issue has been bounced back and forth within the council, it would appear from comments that a good majority of aldermen favor the improvement in service.

Several months ago the council received petitions from housewives asking for at least twice-a-month trash collection. Resolutions were also submitted to that effect.

It has been estimated by Bues that an accelerated trash pickup would cost between $20,000 and $50,000 more a year.

Exact Estimate Demanded

Bues has explained many times that it is difficult to come

Man Arrested After Beating His Wife

A man who allegedly beat his wife Tuesday afternoon at the corner of Wisconsin Avenue and Superior Street has been charged with disorderly conduct by Appleton police.

The man, Roy LaMarche, 44, 1506 N. Racine St., Appleton, was held overnight in the city jail after police were called to the scene by witnesses.

The woman was treated at Appleton Memorial Hospital for cuts and abrasions.

LaMarche was arrested as he sat in his car near where his wife was lying on the sidewalk.

High Cliff Dedication Guests to Be Welcomed by Association Head

NEENAH — Guests at the June 27 dedication of the High Cliff Forest Park and Marina will be welcomed by John H. Stumpf, Sherwood, president of the High Cliff Forest Park Association, at a site overlooking Lake Winnebago and the marina harbor entrance.

The dedication program, open to the public, will begin at 1:30 p.m. with Adam C. Remley, Appleton, former president of the park association, as presiding officer.

The Rev. Leonard Ziemer, Appleton, pastor of the First English Lutheran Church, will give the invocation, and the Rev. Michael Drexler of the Sherwood Catholic Church will pronounce the benediction.

Gordon A. Bubolz, Appleton, will give the day's address and Guido R. Rahr, chairman of the Wisconsin Conservation Commission, will officially dedicate the park and marina. Responses will be given by William Nuss, Fond du Lac, Harrison Weaver, Brillion, and John E. Dempsey, Oshkosh.

Band Music

The Brillion High School Band under the direction of Bruce Messner, will provide the music at the afternoon program.

Wisconsin Conservation Commission members who are expected to accompany Rahr to the dedication program are Donald J. Mackie, Clyde Smith, Paul J. Olson, John Lynch, Jack J. Schumacher, James R. Smyth, Charles F. Smith and John Franzen.

Members of the park association include Stumpf, Harold Adams, Elmer Jennings, George E. Johnson, Bernard F. Smith and Bubolz, Appleton, James Bamberg, Kaukauna, Harrison Weaver, Brillion, D. K. Brown, Neenah and George Schaefer, Sherwood.

S. F. Shattuck, Neenah, is president of the association's waterfront committee, with Robert Pagel, Menasha, William

Kimberly Man Named to State Education Unit

Harold Wentzel to Represent School Boards on Committee

A Kimberly educator will represent the Wisconsin Association of School Boards on the newly created Co-operative Educational Service Agency which will take over responsibilities of county school superintendents March 1, 1965.

Harold Wentzel, president of the Kimberly Board of Education and the WASB, has been named to the agency as it begins work on a plan that will incorporate all Wisconsin public school districts into service agencies.

These service agencies have been created by the state as a "convenience" for local districts in cooperatively providing special educational services between them and the state superintendent of schools.

25 Service Areas

Not more than 25 service areas may be created. Each will include more than one county and will not divide any school districts. Planning for the areas is to be completed by Dec. 1.

The special education services will be provided for teachers, students, school boards, administrators and others. They may include programs such as research, special student classes, data collection, processing and dissemination and inservice programs.

An exact date for the first meeting of the planning committee has not been set, but it is expected to be sometime before Aug. 10.

Committee Members

In addition to Wentzel, the committee will include the State Superintendent of Public Schools as chairman, a non-voting member from the State Department of Public Instruction as secretary, four legislative education committee members, a private citizen appointed by the governor, representatives from five state educational organizations, three members representing local governments and one faculty member each from the University of Wisconsin and Wisconsin State College system.

The planning committee will operate through 1966.

Wentzel also is chairman of WASB's recently formed committee which will study finance and budget practices among Wisconsin school boards.

Wolf River Resort Hit by Burglars

OSHKOSH — Burglars took $498 in cash and a quantity of liquor and cigarettes in a break-in early Saturday at the Orihula resort in the Town of Wolf River, according to information released today by the Winnebago County sheriff's department.

The cash was taken from two cash registers. Also taken were seven cartons of cigarettes and 22 cases of liquor.

Entry was gained by removing a rear window. The burglary was discovered at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Death Leads to 'Get Tough' Policy on Teen-Age Drinkers

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Heavier patrol of teen-age bar areas and a tougher policy in prosecuting violations connected with teen-age drinking were announced today in a joint statement by Brown County Traffic Chief Donald Smith and Dist. Atty. Robert Warren.

The law enforcement officials said their action was a direct result of a traffic accident which took the life of a rural Kaukauna youth early Sunday morning.

Smith said he planned to confer with Warren later today to determine whether any further action would be taken as a result of the death of Ronald Lamers, 19, route 2, Kaukauna.

Lamers was killed when his car, traveling in excess of 100 miles per hour, left Brown County Trunk 22 and rolled down an embankment along the Fox River north of Wrightstown. Lamers was pinned beneath his overturned car and was pronounced dead at the scene of severe head injuries.

Half Barrel of Beer

Smith said investigation of the accident has shown Lamers, along with other youths, had been drinking earlier in the day and purchased a half barrel of beer at a Town of Lawrence beer bar shortly before it closed at 1 a.m. Sunday.

The youths had been drinking from the barrel outside the bar, then placed the barrel in Lamers' car and headed for the farm home of one of the youths. The accident occurred on the way to the farm.

Following the accident, two youths accompanying Lamers took the beer from the wrecked car and threw it into the Fox River, according to signed statements obtained from them.

Khrushchev and Danish Premier Open Discussions

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag motored to a country manor outside Copenhagen today for talks that were billed as political but that probably dealt mostly with trade and cultural relations between their nations.

Khrushchev drove through a gentle rain to the Danish government's Marienborg estate nine miles north of Copenhagen. The Soviet leader bantered and joked with his hosts.

Khrushchev indicated to Krag after his arrival Tuesday that he wanted to concentrate on economics and farming. The Danes, members of the North Atlantic alliance, said they could not envisage any political issues on which the two countries could agree.

Police Hunt Mugger on Northeast Side

Believe Man Was Involved in Earlier Incident

Two Appleton police detectives today are attempting to trace a possible path followed by an early morning mugger who attacked a northeast side woman today as she alighted from her car at her home.

Detectives said the man is believed to be the same person who approached a woman last month on N. Mason Street as she got out of her car in her garage.

The man at that time fled when the woman told the man that her father was a policeman. Both incidents occurred about 3 a.m., police said.

Stopped at Restaurant

Today police attempted to pick up clues to the man's identity at an Appleton restaurant where the woman and a female companion stopped for coffee after a drive-in movie. Police believe the man may have followed the woman from the restaurant.

The woman told police she dropped her companion at her home, then drove to her own home where she parked the car in the garage. She was cleaning debris from the car when, she said, the man came out of the shadows and grabbed her.

The woman kicked the intruder in the knee, she said. Both then fell to the ground and the woman bit the man on the finger. The man jumped up and ran east from the home. In the melee, the woman said, one of her bottom teeth was broken.

Gave Description

As the man ran from the yard, the woman said, a porch light was turned on and she was able to see her assailant and gave police a description.

The attacker is described as young, tall and "good looking."

He was wearing a high neck sweater. Police said the woman will examine picture files at the police station in an attempt to identify the man.

City and county authorities have been seeking other persons involved in early morning attacks on women. The women are generally followed as they leave work or restaurants early in the morning. At least six such incidents have been reported in the past eight months. Appleton detectives said that not all the attacks are being made by the same person.

Kaukauna to Sell Some of Its Land

Property Not Planned for Future Use to be Offered

KAUKAUNA — Sale of city-owned property not designated for future use was authorized Tuesday by the city council. The sale will be done by the council's finance committee which will advertise land to be sold and review offers at 7 p.m. June 30. The committee has reserved the right to reject any offers.

Land which will be sold is located in various places throughout the community. A request from a resident of the Town of Buchanan for an annexation was referred to the city attorney to outline proper annexation procedure. The Electric and Water Utility Commission was authorized to locate a gas zone regulator on gate necessary street lighting. Dixon Street right of way, south in the recently annexed 63 acres of Dodge Street.

A petition to residents on Buchanan as well as residential developing areas on W. Tenth Street, objecting to the $10.25 assessment for street improvement, was filed. They objected because they reside in an area zoned heavy industrial and are forced to pay a higher assessment than people living in a residentially zoned area. Street construction is different for a heavy industrial area because heavier traffic is expected.

County Highway Request
Aldermen voted to request the county to have Gertrude Street between State 96 and State 55, for 1934 with the governor's approval today of a State Conservation Commission order.

21 Fox Valley Boys Elected at Badger State

Campaign for County, State Legislative Positions

RIPON—Twenty-one young persons from the Fox River Valley area were among 224 to be elected to county and state legislative offices at the Badger Boys State convention on the Ripon College campus Tuesday.

The young politicians have been campaigning on mythical Federalist and Nationalist party tickets, with counties and cities also given names.

Young persons from the Fox Cities include Michael Weyenberg, Little Chute, county supervisor; Michael Andrews, Kaukauna, and Wayne Steinbach, Menasha, both state senators; Patrick Gendron, Tim Bauer and Timothy Clark, all of Appleton, assemblymen; David Lee, Appleton, county judge; John Scholling, Appleton, county clerk, and William Casper, Neenah, county superintendent of schools.

Elected county supervisors were Charles Case and James Kita, both of Oshkosh; Merton Anunson, Clintonville; Gerald Bastian, Wrightstown, and James Zempel, Fremont.

Slate senators from the Valley area are Charles Case, Oshkosh, and Mark Demming, New London. State assemblymen are Donald Meixensperger, Oshkosh, and George Meyer, New Holstein.

Other county officers include James Zeller, Oshkosh, clerk; Kurt Holm, Clintonville, treasurer; Lawrence Champion, Oshkosh, superintendent of schools, and James Ross, Brillion, sheriff.

Objections to Plamann Park Road Discussed

The road said they knew nothing about it until construction was started.

Mrs. Ralph Plamann, widow of the man who donated the land to the county for the park, said her husband specified when he donated the land that no roads could be built through the park to private property.

Accusations Traded
Temperatures were heated at Tuesday night's meeting as Lecker and the group protesting the road traded accusations.

As a result of the meeting, the town board passed a resolution asking the county board to hear objectors' protests and to reconsider its action at the July 14 meeting. Also, construction of the road was halted until the county takes action.

The easement on the park land was given to the town by the county board. However, cost of construction of the road is being paid by the Lecker family. When the road is completed, it will become part of the town road system.

Gift to Daughters
Lecker, according to Town Clerk Leslie Woldt, gave the 10 acres of land west of the park to his daughters for eventual home construction. However, he said, there is no access to the property. Lecker said his daughters plan to subdivide the land.

One of the main objectors at Tuesday night's meeting was Clifford Wolskel, who owns property 20 feet away from where the road is being built. He said the first he knew about the road was seeing it being built when he came home from work last Thursday.

Lecker said today he went to Outagamie County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath and County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer and asked them what steps would be necessary to get the easement. He said he was advised to have the town make the request.

Fire Protection
"The county park committee and Highway Commission Clarence Brownson both looked at the land and approved the plans," he said.

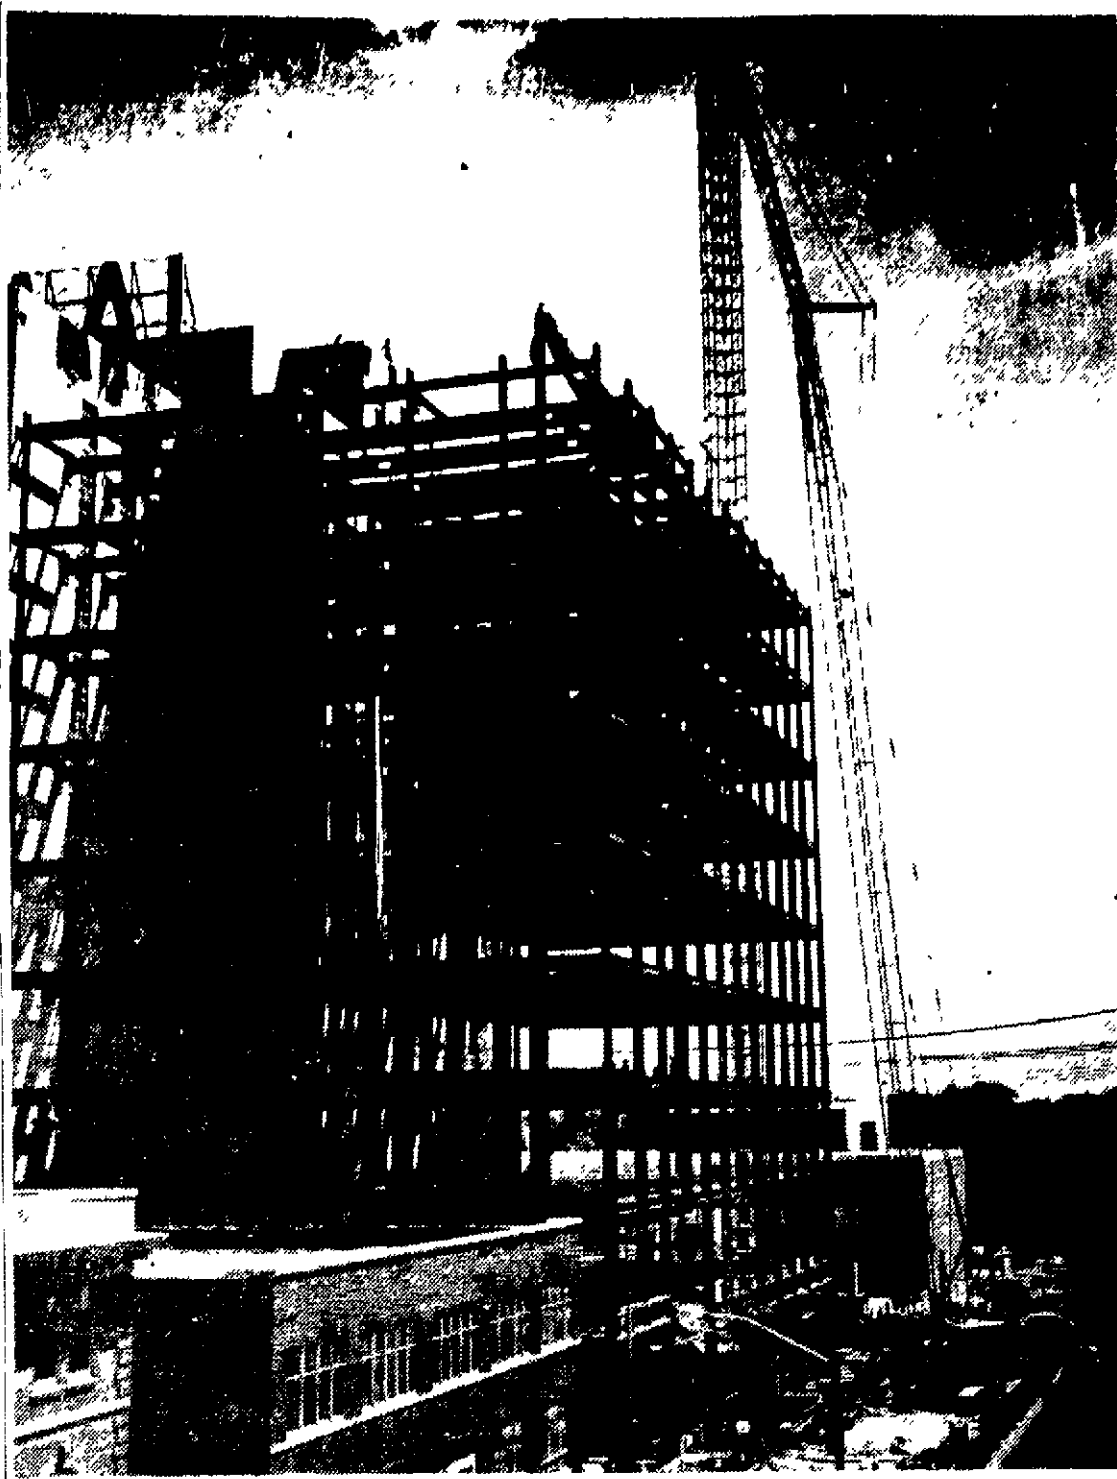

"We need the road for fire protection," Lecker said. "In case there would be grass fires or a woods fire back in that part of the park."

"And besides," he said, "the Boy Scouts have expressed an interest in having a shelter house in that part of the park and they would need access. When that shelter house is built, we'd have to have a service road go back there anyway."

Lecker said he was "irked" by the protests "because there isn't another person on the county board who has donated a more time and effort on working for that park than I have."

"It was I," he said, "who donated the land to the county for the park entrance."

Lecker said the county park committee would discuss the problem at its meeting Monday.

Blaze Largest in City for Quarter Century; Exact Cause Not Yet Known

SEYMOUR — Loss from the midday fire which razed the main warehouse of the Seymour Lumber Co. Tuesday is expected to total $225,000.

Owners Harold and Elmer Krahn said that despite the blaze they expected to be back in business today. Wholesale suppliers are expected to restock the firm's needs.

High on the loss list is about 140,000 board feet of prime stock lumber which was housed in the warehouse. It was the largest fire in the city for more than a quarter century.

Prevented Spreading
Although exact cause of the fire remains unknown, it was believed to have started in the sawing room which was located along the south wall of the warehouse. Smoke was spotted in this area and doors on the east end were closed. The action apparently was responsible for preventing the fire to down in the water dumping his rider.

Practiced Charity
At Oshkosh the ensemble found a far from warm reception at the fair grounds. It was the only place on the route the group had to pay to stay ($100) and had no water or electricity.

Gillespie said the youths had a real chance to practice Christian charity by cleaning the grounds to condition better than when they arrived.

At each stop the group opens griddies and starts frying genuine buffalo burgers. If 5,000 of them are sold, the cost of the trip will nearly be paid.

Advisors estimate cost of the trip at $4,500 and expect to come out short by $1,500.

Besides buffalo burgers there is cotton candy and other carnival type refreshment.

Complete With Stage
After the supper hour, open to the public, youths in the ride put on the talent show, from folk singing to hillbilly antics, amusing a crowd of young and old alike.

Appleton had some 250 persons at a rollicking country jubilee with the youths in high spirits. Talent ranges from high school play parts and duets to on-the-spot creations practiced a short time between currying a horse and frying the burgers.

And, don't be surprised if you see a stage coach rattle off into the sunset pulled by four chestnut horses.

The Seymour firm employs about 35 persons. The Krahn brothers have operated the Seymour Lumber Co. for the past eight years. However, the site has been occupied by a lumber business for almost 50 years. The warehouse which burned was constructed in the 1890s and operated as a foundry until it burned out in 1908.

Tuesday's fire was the largest in the city since 1958 when flames destroyed the Seymour Woodenware Co. It was rebuilt and continues to operate.

Heat from the fire was intense enough to warp doors on the Outagamie County Highway Department garage located across the street. Utility wires had to be cut. Phone service was restored by late afternoon.

Employees were busy carrying out materials and equipment during the early stages of the fire. The railroad box cars parked in the yard were pushed away from the immediate fire scene by a group of men from the firm. Others were loading new lumber from the company stocks into trucks for morning delivery.

Stock was being shifted Tuesday afternoon to make room for new lumber. Coal located in a shed just south of the main warehouse escaped the flames which licked away at the lightweight shed walls and roof.

A bulldozer was employed late Tuesday afternoon to clear some of the debris and push it away from the office section. Remaining walls of the warehouse were knocked down Tuesday evening. Firemen kept an all night watch at the scene to keep the fire confined to the warehouse.

Col. Radde Advanced To Brigadier General

MADISON (AP) — Appointment of Col. Donald Radde of Sparta as brigadier general in Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division was approved today by Gov. John W. Reynolds.

The appointment is subject to U.S. Senate confirmation.

Radde, managing editor of the Monroe County Democrat at LaFollette Park on Wednesday for southside children.

This is in addition to regular playground events as many of these are designed for older children. Playground leaders may also be contacted for reservations.

A program for exceptional children will be offered from 1 to 3 p.m. on Wednesdays at LaFollette Park. This is open to any handicapped or retarded child and an effort will be made to schedule appropriate activities to add variety to their summer routine.

local committee divides an area into small sections. Each tract should include population, housing and land use as alike as possible.

Eligibility for publishing census tract information by the Bureau of Census is given to all cities of 50,000 population or more. Franchett and James pointed out they believe Appleton has reached this population and Oshkosh should by the time of the next decennial census in 1970.

Users of Service
More than 200 communities in the nation have used this bureau service. In Wisconsin, census tracts have been established in the Duluth - Superior metropolitan area, Milwaukee, Kenosha, Racine, Madison and Green Bay.

These communities have information from census tracting which can be utilized in city planning, marketing analysis, labor markets, retailing, housing, civil defense, church planning, studies of disease and juvenile delinquency.

Rec Department Will Offer Two Special Programs

KAUKAUNA — Registration is underway at the recreation department office for two special programs to be provided under the direction of Mary Ball and Mary Schwin, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

A "lot-time" program for youngsters from four through six years of age will get underway June 23 with special games, crafts and stories designed for these age groups to be offered. Sessions will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. Tuesdays at Riverside Park for northside youngsters and the same time at LaFollette Park on Wednesdays for southside children.

This is in addition to regular playground events as many of these are designed for older children. Playground leaders may also be contacted for reservations.

A program for exceptional children will be offered from 1 to 3 p.m. on Wednesdays at LaFollette Park. This is open to any handicapped or retarded child and an effort will be made to schedule appropriate activities to add variety to their summer routine.

Appleton Unit To Discuss Trash Problem up with an exact estimate as demanded by some aldermen because it is not known how much the trash volume will increase.

With residents to receive bi-weekly pickups under the proposed program, it would be safe to say there will be less burning in Appleton but more trash collected by municipal crews than in the past.

Several recommendations relating to improvements in city trash matter has not become a heated issue among council or sidetracks a vote, it delays start of the proposed bi-weekly pickup from two weeks to a month.

Bues and members and his staff, based on a survey conducted during the summer of 1963.

Survey Requested
The survey was requested after City Disposal Corp. of Milwaukee said it could provide better and cheaper collection service than the city.

Results of the survey showed that while the city's population increased by more than 40 per cent during the past decade, and more homes were built and annexations made, the garbage and trash collection routes were never revised.

As a result, there is evidence the city lacks men and equipment to do the job. This information is contained in the survey report.

Sampling of Opinion
Although controversial, the city trash matter has not become a heated issue among council or sidetracks a vote, it delays start of the proposed bi-weekly pickup from two weeks to a month.

Hospitals Must Pay Permit Fees

Appleton's two hospitals—both planning major additions—should be required to pay the trash collection proposition has 15 votes going into tonight's meeting.

Originally, the street-sanitation committee recommended improved service be put into effect in June. Because of delays in having the council take action, the estimated starting time was revised to Aug. 1.

Every time the council refers the matter back to committee requests from any other non-profit institutions and organizations in Appleton.

going rate for municipal construction permits.

The position was taken Tuesday by the board of public works in a recommendation to the common council.

In separate communications, city officials recently heard from officials of the Appleton Memorial and St. Elizabeth hospitals.

Both requested city officials to waive permit fees for their respective multi-million dollar construction projects.

Building Inspector Charles Magnette estimated more than $1,000 in various permit fees were involved.

Board members said they felt waiving any fees for the hospitals would be precedent-setting and pave the way for similar requests from any other non-profit institutions and organizations in Appleton.

It denied the requests on a split vote.

Seward Celebrates Award After Quake

SEWARD, Alaska (AP)—This city will celebrate its all-American status June 27—three months after its waterfront was devastated by the Good Friday earthquake and resulting tidal waves.

Lack of money and space will make the celebration more subdued than originally planned. James Harrison, city manager said Wednesday when he announced the date. The festivities had been planned originally for April 4-5.

The announcement that Seward had been one of 11 cities chosen for all-America city honors was made March 26, the day before the big quake.

6 Noted Musical Units Set for July 4 Event

Mummers String Bands, Crack Bugle Corps, Naval Band in Milwaukee Parade Line-Up

Six famous musical units, including two of the top Philadelphia Mummers string bands in fancy costumes, have been added to the Schlitz circus parade for the Fourth of July. The band from the Recruit Training command of the Great Lakes Naval Training station and outstanding drum and bugle corps from Boston, Toronto and St. Louis also will participate.

Of the 25 marching bands and corps in the parade, the Polish-American String band and the Hegeman String band, with about 50 men each, will be by far the most spectacular and unusual. They will be first Mummers bands to appear in the Midwest for many years and the first ever to perform in Milwaukee.

The Polish-American band, tubas, trombones, French horns and the like. By custom and rule the Mummers are confined to string, reed and percussion instruments. For the most part they use banjos, mandolins, guitars, basses, accordions, saxophones, clarinets, glockenspiels and drums.

Mummers bands are all male, again by inviolable rule. The bandsmen are not professional musicians but men of many vocations who belong to the various clubs in the Philadelphia New Year Shooters' and Mummers' association.

The Recruit Training Command band is composed of 50 men and will be accompanied here by two other Naval Training station units. One will be a formation of 50 men carrying the flags of all 50 states of the Union. The other will consist of a color guard and three drill companies of about 85 men each.

sort to place in the finals at an American Legion national convention. The St. Louis corps, which features a color guard of 16, placed among the top 10 at the Legion national conventions in 1956, 1959, 1960, 1961 and 1963. It also held Missouri state American Legion championships in 1946, 1949 and 1952-1963. It was winner of the Racine invitational contest in 1962.

The Toronto Optimists Drum and Bugle corps has held the Canadian junior championship title every year since 1958. It took the New York-Canadian championship flag in 1959, 1960, 1961 and 1963. The corps is sponsored by the Optimist club of Toronto as one phase of its boys' work

Boston Crusaders The Boston Crusaders Drum and Bugle Corps is another junior unit that has won many honors in the East for appearance, drill and music. It was a top attraction in the Macy's New Year's Day parade in New York.

Among other units that will appear in the music and pageantry section of the parade on the Fourth are these:

Other Unites Bands — Baraboo High School, Continental Youth, Lake Youth, Milwaukee Elks Youth, Peshigo High School, Racine Elks Youth, South Milwaukee Municipal, Wisconsin Lutheran High School.

Drum and Bugle Corps — Ishpeming (Mich.) Blue Notes, Racine Boys of '76, Park Ridge (Ill.) Cavaliers, Madison Explorer Scouts, Menominee (Mich.) Northernaires, Mercy High School, Racine Boy Scouts, Racine YMCA Killies, Chicago Royal Aires, St. Mat.

Forestry Division
Takes Inventory of Menominee Lands

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Field work has been completed and is now being summarized for a revised inventory of the timber stands on the woodlands of Menominee County.
The report on the stands, owned by Menominee Enterprises, Inc., has been released by the state
forestry division.
The new inventory is being taken to determine whether the allowable cut on the former Menominee Indian Reservation can be increased or should be otherwise modified in preparation for the review of the timber management plan which is required by law in 1967.

Witnesses told police she got week, upon the advice of the out, looked at the animal, restate forestry service and a consultative committee of independent foresters.

The management plan revisions are to provide better and more flexible harvesting and utilization of the various wood products available on the Indian lands.
The inventory is related to the idea of total allowable harvest volume, which some spokesmen for the corporation have thought to be unduly excessive.
Present Rule
The present rule is for a maximum cut, of all species, of 30-000,000 board feet a year, including the board feet equivalent of cord wood products.
Although the total actual harvesting has not reached that allowable volume, the inventory may bring about modifications in the harvest of certain species.
Welsch said the decision on revising the cut rule will be made by the conservation commission sometime during the next year, and that Menominee Enterprises, Inc., is expected to retain a consulting forester to collaborate with the commission in reviewing the inventory results.

Reports Indicate Economy Will Continue Its Growth

Johnson Pleased at Prospect Of Election Year Prosperity

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The prospect of having prosperity in capital was abloom today with rosy reports on the nation's economy. These were the findings by the various agencies Tuesday after adding up and comparing jobs, personal income, manufacturing profits and production percentages.

Jobs, personal income, manufacturing profits and production percentages were up, and labor disputes down.

Investigator Says Pictures Would Not Degrade Officials

MADISON (AP) — A Dane County jail prisoner and three state crime investigators were the first witnesses Tuesday in a John Doe investigation of reports that an attempt was made to arrange for faked photographs to compromise state officials, including Gov. John W. Reynolds.

The first witness was Earl Jacobs, 44, of Madison, who was convicted last week of receiving and concealing $547 worth of jewelry stolen from a Madison store last Christmas Day.

He spent all of Tuesday morning and part of the afternoon in the chambers of Circuit Judge Norris B. Maloney, who is conducting the probe requested by Dane County Dist. Atty. Michael B. Torphy Jr.

No Pictures
Torphy said to his knowledge "there are no pictures of public officials which would degrade or damage them." He was reported to have confirmed that the investigation was centered on a plan by Milwaukee area officials to produce such pictures.

Jacobs declined to discuss his testimony.

He was followed into Maloney's chamber by three agents from the criminal investigation division of the attorney general's office. They are Herbert Khruske, Clark Lovrien and LaVerne Stordock, who also refused comment.

Jacob's Role
Torphy and his aides declined information on Jacobs' role in the investigation. A Milwaukee report said that when Jacobs was approached in April to participate in the scheme, he reported it to Madison officials.

Torphy declined to say how many witnesses would be called or how long the hearings might last.

"All I will say on this subject," he said, "is that there are several witnesses and testimony will be taken for at least several days."

Maloney said the hearings would be conducted on a full time basis until completed.

Reynolds declined to comment on the investigation.

However, those close to him said he was furious when he was informed of the plot. They said that even though angry, the governor was determined not to participate in the probe except to urge that an exhaustive investigation be conducted.

State Projects Included With Appropriations

WASHINGTON (AP)—A number of Wisconsin projects were included Tuesday as the House passed on a 360 to 11 vote a $4.3 billion public works appropriations bill for the fiscal year starting July 1 and sent the measure to the Senate.

Johnsons Attend Dinner Held for Mrs. Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—President and Mrs. Johnson, accompanied by several Washington dignitaries, flew here Tuesday night and attended a dinner in honor of Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

The dinner at the St. Regis Hotel also was a tribute to New York area trustees of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library to be built near Harvard University.

Mrs. Kennedy sat next to Johnson at the dinner, attended by 200 guests and given by Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Smith of New York City, the late president's brother-in-law and sister. Mrs. Johnson sat at another table.

Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, the late president's mother, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, his brother, attended the dinner. The attorney general and Adlai E. Stevenson, ambassador to the United Nations, both of whom arrived at the hotel after Johnson, were cheered by the guests.

Goldwater Has No Plans About Gov. Scranton

674 Delegates Now Pledged to Arizona Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater has indicated he plans no campaign attack on his newly declared rival for the Republican presidential nomination, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

Sources close to the Arizona senator said today he has vetoed a campaign offensive suggested by some of his advisers which would have labeled the Pennsylvania governor "the puppet candidate" of Republicans out to stop him.

Goldwater has not ruled out Scranton as a vice-presidential running mate should he win the presidential nomination, the sources indicate.

674 Delegates
With 674 delegates pledged or committed to his column—19 above the 655 figure he needs for the nomination—Goldwater plans little in the way of active campaigning before the convention.

Yet he makes it plain that he is out to capture as many more delegates as he can before the convention opens in San Francisco July 13. Montana will choose 14 Friday in the last of the state conventions for GOP delegate selections.

Goldwater recognizes the danger of slippage in his delegate count, and cites it as the reason for an effort to capture more backing before the convention.

He set the tone for his campaign against Scranton in Dallas Tuesday—and it is much the same as that he waged against New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in their three presidential primary campaigns.

Goldwater answered Scranton's criticism without naming the Pennsylvania governor—and made a call for Republican unity the theme of his rebuttal.

"Please, don't unite yourselves against anything but the opposition," he urged more than 10,000 Republicans at the Texas GOP convention. "Don't carry grudges into the ballot boxes."

Out to counter Scranton's charge that a Goldwater ticket would spell defeat for other GOP candidates in November, the senator said he intends to lead Republicans to victory "from the courthouse to the Congress."

"I don't believe that any one Republican could destroy the Republican party," he said.

Retired Clark County Judge Is Dead at 84

NEILLSVILLE (AP) — Oscar W. Schoengarth, Clark County judge for 55 years until his retirement in 1956, died Tuesday night at his home. He was 84.

Schoengarth was graduated from the University of Wisconsin law school in 1901 and took over the judgeship before the year was out. Active in Masonic affairs, he had served as a director of the First National Bank of Neillsville and has assisted in the organization of other banks in the county.

He was a delegate to the 1912 Republican national convention when William Howard Taft was nominated for president.

Schoengarth was succeeded as county judge by his son, Lowell, who is now a circuit judge. Mrs. Schoengarth died in 1954.

Services will be held Saturday at the United Church of Christ.

Virginia County's Schools Integrated

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Giles County next fall will become the first Virginia locality to eliminate segregated schools.

The State Pupil Placement Board Tuesday assigned all 131 Negro pupils in the county to two white schools. The county school board had planned to close the two Negro schools. Giles has a total school enrollment of about 4,300.

Charcoal Fire Starter Plant Is Destroyed

25 Employees Get Out of Building Without Harm

WAUSAU (AP)—A plant producing a highly combustible charcoal fire starter was destroyed by fire within 30 minutes Tuesday, but about 25 employees, most of them women, escaped unharmed. Damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

"It was the hottest and fastest fire I've seen in my 26 years on the department," said Fire Chief Wilbur Petzold. He said fire extinguishers were melted from the walls of the plant, operated under rigid fire prevention regulations.

Assembly Plant
Reduced to a mass of twisted metal was the assembly plant of the Astro-Liter division of the Marathon Battery Co. The firm's charcoal fire starter was produced in solid form and affixed to heavy cardboard with the same highly inflammable cement used by model airplane builders.

The loss was estimated by E.D. McEachron, president of Marathon Battery, who said he hoped Astro-Liter would be back in business at another Wausau location within 60 days.

2-Story Building
The old plant was a two-story, nearly block-long building beside a railroad line on Wausau's East Side.

The blaze set up billowing smoke which one witness said "looked like the mushroom of an atomic explosion."

The workers fled quickly after a fire department fire prevention crew which had just completed a routine inspection at a private home about a block away.

Little Margaret Moos, 4, of Tarrytown, N.Y., didn't care whether it was a political meeting or what, but she had fun playing with one of the honored guests—Mrs. William Scranton—wife of Pennsylvania's Governor Scranton, after a dinner in Minneapolis Tuesday night. The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Moos, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Scranton. (AP Wirephoto)

Negro Man, 72, Gets High School Diploma

BY HOWARD C. HEYN
COMPTON Calif. (AP)—Daniel Elmore, 72, a Negro handyman, graduates from high school today.

He is a little late getting his diploma because he had to put all 10 of his sons and daughters through college first.

Elmore financed that massive task with a series of odd jobs over a period of 20 years.

The last one finished college seven years ago. "Then I figured it was my turn" the tall, proud father said Tuesday in an interview.

10 Children
Two of his 10 children will be on hand when Elmore steps down the aisle in cap and gown at David Starr Jordan High School in nearby Watts to receive the certificate he earned in four years of night classes.

William Warden, principal of Jordan's adult high school, said: "This is a tremendous man and a wonderful student. He is an outstanding public speaker, and last year he delivered the graduation benediction even though he wasn't graduating. So this year we gave him that assignment again. Everyone is so happy for him."

All of Elmore's seven daughters and three sons got good jobs in a variety of fields. Five became teachers, two nurses. One of the teachers died six years ago.

All Wanted College
On son is a biologist, one a musician. One of the nurses is now a graduate student, pursuing a master's degree in nursing administration. They range in age from 27 to 43.

"Every one of them wanted to go to college and every one worked to help me put them through," Elmore said. "Each earned at least $10 a month while going to school, most of them more. I did anything and everything I could to make an honest dollar."

"It wasn't easy, specially during the depression. But I have no regrets. I'd do it all over again."

Lynda Bird Ending Vacation in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson was to return here from her four-day tour of Hawaii's islands today for a state dinner given by Gov. John A. Burns.

The slim, 20-year-old daughter of President Johnson is winding up a visit to the 50th state. Tuesday she toured the 13-mile lip of Kilauea volcano on Hawaii Island and shopped with the aid of a Secret Service escort for a muumuu dress.

Harpooned Whale Reported Carrying Radio and Radar

SITKA, Alaska (AP)—A har-pooned blue fin whale about 20 feet long with radio and radar equipment carrying "definitely Russian" markings was found Tuesday in the Pacific off Sit-ka, it was reported here early today.

Jim Jaqua of Sitka television station KSA-TV said there was a radio transmitter antenna on the harpoon in the dead whale when it was spotted about 1 1/2 miles off Baranof Island.

Trailing behind on a line about 100 feet long, Jaqua said, was a tri-plane radar reflector. Markings on the equipment U.S. officials about the use of "were definitely Russian," he said.

The U.S. Coast Guard picked fishing catches.

7/8 H.P. ROUTER, Model 100 AB

This router is widely used by both homecraftsmen and builders. The home user can do his own grooving, weatherstripping and shelving as well as cutting all types of decorative edges, corners, and surfaces. Builders use it for a countless variety of jobs on wood, plastic and composites.
The Model 100 features an interchangeable motor that may be used with the 100-P or 1102 Plane Attachments, or the 150-S or 5004 Shaper Table Attachments.

Model 100 includes Motor (100-M) with 10' 3 conductor Cord, 74" Cord, 26', 2 Wrenches (PR 27), and Operating Manual, together with Base Assembly (100-B).

Pair Says Promises in Noon Rite

NEW LONDON — The First Congregational Church was the setting at noon Saturday for the wedding of Miss Jane Frances Pfeifer and Reuben Paul Lehman. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Alfred C. Davis.

Mrs. Gladys Pfeifer, 304 N.

Mrs. Lehman

Water St., is the bride's mother. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Lehman, 412 Douglas St.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Fred Pfeifer, the bride chose her sister, Miss Ann Pfeifer, as maid of honor. Emory Lehman, a brother of the bridegroom, attended as best man. Ushering duties were shared by Calvin Lehman and Gary Marksman.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception at Dan's Supper Club.

Mr. Lehman is employed at the Neenah Foundry, Neenah. Mrs. Lehman attended Patricia Stevens Career School, Milwaukee.

The couple will be at home at 202 Wolf River Ave.

Ceremony Performed Saturday

MENASHA — Miss Lynn Everson became the bride of Norman Thiel at 11 a.m. Saturday at the First Congregational Church. The Rev. John C. Hanchett officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Everson, 64½ Racine St. Mr. Thiel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Thiel, 330 Water St.

Miss Ann Dahl, the bridegroom's cousin, and Miss Barbara Kaufmann were the bride's honor attendants.

Dean Carliss was best man. Groomsman was Timothy Dahl. The newlyweds will honeymoon in northern Wisconsin.

Mrs. Thiel is employed at Standard Kollsman Industries Inc., Oshkosh. Her husband is employed by the city of Menasha.

beauties who will vie for the right to represent the Badger State in the 1964 Miss America competition at Atlantic City in September.

Contestants were busy in the afternoon registering, attending press conferences, posing for photographers, and getting filled in on the rules and regulations.

After a late afternoon cookout where they got to know each other better, the girls went to the Oshkosh High School-Civic Auditorium for their first "live" rehearsal.

Things moved swiftly under the guidance of Virginia Haber-mann, producer-director, and their positions on stage in the opening number and their places in the "parade of cities" down the runway. Composer Wayne worked with the girls on their "We Are Tomorrow" song until their delivery was near perfection.

Joining in the rehearsal were two members of the court of honor, Sylvia Frees, Miss Omro of 1963 and Mary Ellen Forcier, Miss Eau Claire of 1963. The reigning Miss Wisconsin, Barbara Bonville, was also at the rehearsal but could only stay a short time because she was scheduled for an appearance at the stock car races.

Guests of Merchants

The girls spent today rehearsing but will take a break tonight when they are guests of the Oregon Street Merchants Association at a dinner at the Knights of Columbus Club. After the dinner the contestants will take part in the Miss Wisconsin Civic Celebration on Oregon Street.

The first night's competition will begin at 8 p.m. Thursday at the auditorium. Members of the Andante Group will take part in the talent competition, while the Allegro Group competes in the evening gown and swim suit part of the pageant. On Friday evening the competition will be reversed. The presentation of preliminary winners in the swim suit and talent competition will be made Thursday and Friday. Announcement of the 10 semi-finalists will be made shortly after the start of the Saturday night finals.

Masonic Group Fetes Members At Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Members of Bethel No. 26, Job's Daughters, were honored by the Order of Eastern Star recently at a dinner at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Jack Dedolph was program chairman.

A welcome was extended by Mrs. John A. Johnson, worthy matron, and responses were given by Sherry Rogers, honored queen, and Mrs. Ralph Lendved, Bethel guardian.

M. M. Bodoh of the Clintonville Police Department spoke to the group on "A Teen Age Code." He complimented the Job's Daughters for their excellent conduct record. Mrs. J. H. Stein, former Bethel guardian, gave a history of Job's Daughters.

Miss Rogers presented a gift to Barbara Wiese, immediate past honored queen, from her officers. Mrs. Dedolph, Bethel secretary, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Neola Kemmer, Ripon, was a special guest. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Harrison, Miss Lynn Harrison, Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Thomas. Mrs. James James Smiley, Mrs. Owen Tilleson and Mrs. Arthur Campbell.

The next meeting of the Eastern Star will be at 8 p.m. June 23 at the Masonic Temple at which time Mrs. Lloyd Miller, a South Bend, Ind., will be special guest. Members having birthdays in June and July will be honored.

Members of the lunch committee will be Mr. and Mrs. John Polzin, Mrs. Chester Kaslen, Mrs. Arthur Polzin, Mrs. Burr Tolles, Miss Margaret Schafer and Jack Dedolph.

A brother of the bride, Milton V. Baeten, Wrightstown, served as best man. Groomsman were Raymond Granger, Robert Granger and Paul Olejniczak. The couple is employed at Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna. They will live at 222½ Canal St., Little Chute.

Pretty Personalities Marriage Ceremony Performed

MENASHA—Miss Susan Mary Wilfling became the bride of Clayton Schroeder, 1317 Maple St., Neenah, at noon Saturday at St. Mary Catholic Church. The Rev. David E. Kiefer officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Joseph Wilfling Jr., 236 Second St., and the late Mrs. Wilfling. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schroeder, 244 W. Liberty St., Berlin, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride chose Mrs. Marshall Schroeder as her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Marcia Charrier and Mrs. Arden Schroeder. Miss Rebecca Wilfling was junior bridal aide and Miss Marsha Heinzkill, flower girl.

Marshall Schroeder served his brother as best man. Groomsman were Michael Wilfling and Kenneth Vander Heiden. Guests were seated by Joseph Wilfling III and Arden Schroeder. Robbin Handier served as junior attendant and Keith Vande Heiden as ring bearer.

Wedding guests were received at the Silver Dome Ballroom, Greenville.

After a honeymoon in the Black Hills, South Dakota, the couple will live at 218½ Garfield St., Menasha.

The bride is employed in the Neenah office of Marathon Division of American Can Co. in advance; then a light and gentle lathering will suffice at wave time.

Queen Not Necessarily The Ruler

BY EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Queens rule nations, but princes rule royal homes.

At least that's the way it is with a pair of the world's best known princes—Bernhard of the Netherlands and Philip of Britain.

Eleven years ago, Bernhard gave the following advice to his friend Philip:

"To succeed as both husband and subject, I believe you need a tightrope walker's sense of balance and an understanding wife. In the nation it is my wife who rules. In my home it is I."

Prince Bernhard, the husband of Queen Juliana, gave the advice to the husband of Queen Elizabeth II in 1953, shortly before her coronation. The prince of the Netherlands volunteered it in an interview with a former Dutch court reporter, Donald Canter.

Follows Advice

There is nothing to suggest that Prince Philip doesn't follow the advice. There is, however, a slight suspicion that Prince Philip doesn't have his way all the time.

Lord Kinross has said that Queen Elizabeth once asked a woman friend: "What do you do when your husband wants something badly and you don't want him to have it?"

"Well, ma'am," the queen's friend is reported to have replied, "I try to reason with him and dissuade him and sometimes we reach a compromise."

To this Her Britannic Majesty is said to have retorted: "Oh, that's not my method. I tell Philip he shall have it, and then make sure he doesn't get it."

But, according to persons close to the British throne, there is overwhelming evidence to suggest that Prince Philip rules the British royal home as surely as Bernhard does the one in Holland.

Rules House

For instance:—The queen opposed Prince Philip flying. He flew.

—The queen was against Philip landing helicopters on the lawn at Buckingham Palace. He landed them.

—The queen was not entirely in agreement with overhauling palace protocol. It was overhauled.

—The queen was opposed to Prince Charles going to Gordonstoun, the tough Scottish public school. Charles went to Gordonstoun.

Then there was the time the queen appeared before a royal party wearing a dress of her own choosing. In the hearing of several persons, Philip took a look at the frock, frowned and said rather sharply: "You're not going to wear THAT, are you?"

"No dear," answered the queen, and went and changed the dress.

So, it appears Philip is following his friend Bernhard's advice.

Saleslady Sunny Adry shows a topless swimming suit to Miss Kirsten Johansson in a San Francisco store Tuesday. The suit, described as "unbelievable," has created a storm of protest over the resulting "nakedness." City officials say they will be taboo at public pools and clergymen denounced the suits as fast as they were made available. (AP Wirephoto)

No Middle-of-the-Stream In Topless Bathing Suits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—was immediate, and predictable.

"It's—it's unbelievable," gasped shopowner Nasimo Sargis, groping for words. "There's no middle-of-the stream. It's either shock or 'wow!'"

That was Miss Sargis' reaction after she introduced topless swimsuits in San Francisco.

The first dozen suits were snapped up and another 14 ordered for immediate delivery she said.

"Mostly to men," said Miss Sargis, "for their wives. Or at least that's what they said."

Reaction of other San Franciscans to the weekend showing of the latest low in high fashion was immediate, and predictable.

Clergy Rallies "Nakedness," snapped a clergyman, "almost perversion."

The police department wondered aloud what it would do with the first bare bosomed lass to breach the beach.

Another downtown San Francisco shop placed the suits on sale Tuesday.

Held up by two narrow straps that cross in front and back, the suits were denounced by the clergy as an invitation to lust, a return to paganism, a corruptor of morals and "not very nice."

"Just two straps closer to the moral decay in America," declared the Rev. Jacob Bell of Oakland's Neighborhood Church.

What do the cops say? "A touchy, legal subject," said Assistant Police Chief Alfred Arnold. "Nudity isn't illegal unless it's lewd. This'll have to be settled when they show up on the beaches—and I guess they will."

Expect Riots Capt. Daniel W. Keily, responsible for policing the city beaches, observed that when the first woman appears in the suit "the main police problem will be the riot that occurs. The size of the riot probably depends on how well she's endowed."

They'll be taboo at public pools however, city officials said.

Coat Interior of Oven With Aerosol Spray for Cleaning

It's a real labor-saver to use an aerosol spray or other similar preparation to coat the interior of your oven—to keep grease and spattered food from sticking to the walls and racks.

However, remember that this procedure facilitates but does not eliminate a regular post-cooking wash-up! Once the oven (or outdoor grill) cools, sponge off all cooking residues with hot soap or detergent suds; then rinse and wipe dry before re-coating.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

FRANTIC MOTHER

Dear Louise: Our oldest daughter is to be married in the fall and my knowledge of weddings is limited. Frankly,

I'm really scared and need your help. We don't know whether to have a reception and break a fast immediately after the mass or to have the reception at night. I am admittedly frantic and don't know how or where to begin. Do other mothers go into such a tizzy too?

Louise Davis Answers:

Yes, indeed, all mothers go into tizzles whether the weddings are to be small or large. There is really no need to be frantic and you will discover that after it is all over. After you set up plans in advance, you can relax more easily and take every day in your stride. You'll be busy but you will find it fun. Just remember that every parent is in the same boat when it comes to the first wedding for it's a new experience. My advice: don't let well-meaning friends, relatives, acquaintances get into the act by telling you or advising you what to do. You would find a variety of opinions and suggestions which would only confuse you. Get your advice from reliable and authoritative sources because there are a few hard and fast fundamental rules based on tradition and common sense. Innocently following a formula of somebody else's wedding can be disastrous and sometimes shocking.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS 1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do...and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge...small, easy-to-take tablets...special size for children and adults.

Teach Spouse Procrastination Is a Luxury, Ann Tells Wife

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It's been two years since my husband started to paint our four rooms. The living room is a disgrace. The old paint is peeling off and he has one wall partially scraped, but he still hasn't put a brush to it.

After hours of nagging (which didn't help) I said, "Rich, it's plain to see you don't care much about painting so why don't you repair the broken window on the back porch?" He replied, "You are nothing but a nag. I'll do it when I'm in the mood. Leave me alone."

Tell me, Ann Landers, how can I get my husband to accept his responsibilities in the house? We haven't entertained for two years because I'm ashamed of the way our place looks. Help, please. — D. Feated

Dear D.: In the same way that some children become "mother-deaf" some husbands become "wife-deaf." So get smart and save your pipes, Lady.

Quit nagging and hire the work done. Some husbands decide, after paying some outrageous bills for work they could have done themselves, that they can't afford the luxury of procrastination.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 16-year-old daughter has been nagging us for two months and my head is beginning to ache from listening to her.

Will you please print this letter and your answer? It will close the subject so far as I am concerned.

Jeanette wants permission to take a three-week trailer trip with her 17-year-old boy friend and his parents. They plan to go to the Black Hills and then out to Yellowstone Park. Jeanette has never been to these places and insist if we deprive her of the trip she will have lost a great opportunity for education.

She keeps telling us that she is insulted because we don't trust her. She further points out that Bill's parents will be chaperoning them every minute and therefore it would be perfectly proper.

My husband is dead set against it. I am undecided. Jeanette's arguments sound logical and I'd hate for her to miss this fine opportunity to see the country, at no cost. Your opinion is wanted.—Mother Macree

Dear Macree: A 16-year-old girl and a 17-year-old boy should not be taking a trip together — in a trailer yet — even if they are chaperoned by the boy's parents.

Continuous exposure to one another's presence is much too stimulating for teenagers. What you consider a "no cost" trip could turn out to be mighty expensive.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The world will not rise or fall on your answer but I would like to know what you think of the following:

A friend of mine has a habit of introducing her domestic help to any guest who walks into her home. I happen to know Emma, the housekeeper, because I've been seeing her for about 15 years. I don't mind when Emma speaks to me.

Last week I took my new daughter-in-law over there and this friend introduced her to Emma, as if she were a social equal.

My daughter-in-law was pleasant but I was annoyed by the poor manners of the hostess. Comment, please.

—Binghampton

Dear Bing: Your nose is caught on a sky-hook, Sister. The hostess committed no social error whatever when she introduced Emma to your daughter-in-law. She was simply acknowledging Emma's presence, which demonstrates good manners, plus a degree of self-assurance which you obviously lack.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Open Mon. & Fri. Nights — All Day Saturday

Happy Times at Lawrence

Commencement week-end at Lawrence College proved to have something for the whole family to enjoy. The most important group of all — the Class of 1964 — held the spotlight.

The All-College Luncheon for alumni, parents, students, faculty and friends opened festivities at noon Saturday at the Alexander Gymnasium. For the rest of the day graduates made ready for their big moment, proudly showing parents about for the last time and saying farewells to friends of the last four years.

After commencement Sunday afternoon, an informal reception in honor of the class of 1964 and their parents marked the close of graduation activities. The reception took place in the Memorial Union.

The William Thompson family, above, traveled from Deerfield, Ill., for commencement weekend at Lawrence College. At the table are Mrs. Thompson, Lucy, Mr. Thompson and Susan. The Thompsons were members of the Class of 1951. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hulbert, Cincinnati, Ohio, below, members of the Class of 1924, attend the buffet luncheon Saturday. Although alumni, parents, faculty and friends participated in commencement weekend activities, the 1964 graduate was the center of attention. Receiving congratulations at the informal reception Sunday, right, is Miss Marjorie Spotts. With her are H. J. Spotts, Chicago; her father, Daniel Foster, a Lawrence junior, Madison; Mrs. Spotts and Jeannine Reff, an AFS student from Luxembourg who attended Appleton High School. (Post-Crescent Photos)

A Lovelier You

Teen Diet

A teen writes: I want to lose weight. I hate myself, I'm so dumpy. But I'm stymied. When my crowd gathers, I have to eat to be sociable. So the only time I can cut down is at meals, and it makes my mother mad. She thinks that at fourteen I am too young to diet. Now I ask you!

The Answer: Mother is right about not skipping on meals. A teen must never do it without medical supervision. In teen years you burn upwards of 2,200 calories a day and that is the average number contained in well-balanced family meals. You can see that you need those meals to live. And to grow lovely!

The only safe place to cut is on the between-meal calories. They are the fat-making ones. As this example shows: have a candy bar in a morning, an and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Enhanced Bosomline contains detailed instructions on how curve and lift can be improved through exercise, posture and corsetry. (Copyright, 1964)

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kronberg

Sixtieth Anniversary Celebrated

KAUKAUNA — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kronberg, 1117 Harrison St., observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary Sunday at a reception and dinner for family and friends.

The couple was married June 15, 1904 by the Rev. Jaeger, Nicholson. Four of the six attendants at the wedding were on hand for the celebration. They are Mrs. William Fuhs, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Preuss, Clintonville, and Fred Kronberg, Bear Creek.

Horizontal Shower After Sun Bath Aids Physical Therapy

Come hot summer weather, the horizontal shower is an idea worth borrowing from expensive European spas.

The Kronberg operated a farm near Sugar Bush until retiring to live in Kaukauna. The couple's children are Leonard, Rio; Earl, Tempe, Ariz.; Mrs. Anton Gauerke Jr., Fremont; Mrs. Clarence Paschen, Mrs. Russel Dix, and Mrs. Willard Wierschke, Neenah. There are 23 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

At famous Baden-Baden in Germany, an attendant plays a hose against the bather's back as part of a maintenance therapy program. After a sun bath, perhaps you can persuade Junior to turn the garden hose on you full force.

To get even more benefit from this homemade horizontal shower, first lather all over with soapsuds.

Pair to Celebrate 25th Anniversary

LITTLE CHUTE — Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bongers, 414 Johnson Ave., will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary with a mass of thanksgiving at 8 a.m. Saturday at St. John Catholic Church. A supper and reception will be held at the May-Nor Club.

The couple has six children and two grandchildren.

West opened the queen of diamonds, and declarer took dummy's ace at once. Then he took the top hearts and gave up a heart, planning to ruff his last heart in dummy.

There was nothing wrong with that idea except that West discarded the nine of clubs on the third round of hearts. East promptly returned a club to declarer's king.

Nothing much happened on this trick, but South was already a doomed man. He would never get a trick with the ace of clubs.

If South led the ace of clubs at once, West would ruff. If South led trumps, West would refuse the first trump, take the second, put East in with a diamond, and ruff the club return. Then West could lead a third round of trumps to deprive dummy of the ability to ruff a heart.

Work For The Poker
It's true that South could wield the poker on West when the ace of clubs got ruffed away, but it's the sort of thing that people talk about. After a while you run out of opponents. The more convenient plan is to take your high cards before they get ruffed. South should simply cash the ace and king of clubs before leading the third round of hearts. If East leads a club when he gets his heart trick, South ruffs with the king. Nothing can prevent him from ruffing a heart in dummy with a low trump. Then he can lead the ten of spades from dummy to knock out the ace. The rest of the

The Ailing House
Paint Peels Off Wood Columns
BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
Q: We had our middle-aged house painted when we purchased it last year. Everything is fine, except that the paint has peeled off the bases of the wooden open porch columns. I want to repaint but don't want to do this happening again. What do you recommend?
A: The bases are hollow, and moisture penetration has probably caused the paint to peel off. I recommend wood surface with a wax-base, having cast iron ventilating column bases installed. This will permit ventilation at this point, evaporating any moisture and preventing the paint peeling. Dealers in hardware should be able to get the bases for you.
Q: Our finished basement has knotty pine paneling which has been varnished. The varnish is not at all worn off, but I chased it last year. Everything has lost its gloss. What causes this? How can it be remedied?
A: Dulling of varnish is frequently caused by the presence of moisture in the air plus a fair amount of dust. The gloss can be restored by washing the walls with turpentine, then applying a thin coat of bed with soft cloths, or an electric hand polisher. Latter saves on the outside. I recommend wood surface with a wax-base, lots of time and elbow grease!

On Leave Between Assignments, Maj. Ralph Hauert with his wife, Nancy, and their three children are visiting their native Appleton after four years in Hawaii. The family became very much Hawaiianized during their residence near Honolulu and retain the "relaxed way of life." Hawaiian Ways Cling to Family Of Army Officer Home on Leave

Appleton Natives Ralph Hauert and Wife Well Traveled on World Assignments

BY W. R. DOBERSTEIN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Hawaii's easy living habits are something you don't shake just by packing your bags and leaving the place.

This is what the "Army family" of Maj. Ralph Hauert of Appleton, now home on leave between assignment changes, has discovered. The well-traveled Hauerts have just completed about four years residence at Ewabeach, across Pearl Harbor from Honolulu on Oahu, one of the major Hawaiian Islands. As Mrs. Hauert puts it, the relaxed way of life referred to as "Polynesianism" which can be acquired in the islands, doesn't or anyone within hailing distance.

And there's no reason that it should. Visiting at the home of her mother Mrs. Guy Barlow Sr. (Mrs. Hauert's father was principal of Wilson Jr. High School for many years), she and her children have learned that being deep in the heart of the "mainland" isn't so far from Hawaii after all.

"Old Friends" While playing in nearby Erb Park, Beth, Susan and Tommy Hauert encountered a school picnic group from St. Therese classes with members of the Fox Cities Foxes as guests. Among the baseball players were John and Bob Matias of Honolulu. It was like being with old friends.

When the players were giving autographs, Tommy wasn't disturbed at not having any paper or which to procure a set of signatures for himself. He simply thrust out his bare arms and asked that they be written on Oahu, one of the major Hawaiian Islands. Then, with a six-year-old's unabashed enthusiasm, he was able to dislodge the inspection by Mom and Dad.

Although their Hawaiian acquaintances are freshest in mind, the couple reflects its cosmopolitan background in other recollections. The birthplaces of the three youngsters are the keynotes. Beth, 11, is Virginia being born in the heart of the "mainland" isn't so far from Hawaii after all.

San, 9, was born in Orleans in the Loire Valley, France. While playing in nearby Erb Park, Beth, Susan and Tommy born in New York. Next stop, Boston, Mass.

Swimming Prowess
Though Susan was born in the land of vineyards and beautiful cathedrals, her swimming prowess is a Hawaiian developed product. Both the girls were active in swimming competition, but Susan's aptitude netted the most winner's ribbons and awards. Which explains the Hauert anticipation of opening date for Appleton's swimming pools.

Maj. Hauert's background is considerably broader than that of his family—in terms of world acquaintanceship. During WWII he served in Europe with the 13th Airborne Division—as a private. After attending Lawrence College several years, he received a direct Army commission in 1949 as a 2nd lieutenant. This led to service in Korea as a platoon leader with the 3rd Engineer Battalion where he was involved in six campaigns. He was cited for his role in the building of a pontoon bridge on the Nakdong River under enemy fire. The bridge was responsible for saving the lives of U.S. soldiers.

This decoration, another bronze star citation, and subsequent assignments all have faded in the shadow of his present Army job—public information, which he went into in 1955. He's also been in Alaska and the Philippines.

Meets Personalities
Being a PIO (public information officer) has resulted in Maj. Hauert meeting many nationally known personalities in news media—newspapers, radio, television and magazines. In line with his job, he has worked closely with some of them. His impression is that scarcely any remember his name shortly after they have received the assistance needed in their information requirements.

Not so with the major. A rotary member he decided to attend a meeting of the Appleton chapter since his return. Except for his uniform, there was little attention paid him. But as he sat there, recognizing many faces familiar to him in the past it occurred to him he'd like to thank them for their roles and constructive influence in his becoming the man he is. So he did.

The years since he graduated from Appleton High School in 1944 had taken their toll on facial features, but they were still the same men who had helped mold him and he wanted them to know it.

Legion Group Seats Officers

Install Commanders At Joint Ceremony For Kimberly Units

KIMBERLY — Joint installation of officers was held by the American Legion Post and its auxiliary.

Installing officers were Mrs. Viola Tesch, Shiocton, ninth district auxiliary president, and Harold Van Dyke, Neenah, past ninth district commander, and Martin Jansen, newly elected ninth district commander.

Auxiliary officers assuming duties were Mrs. John Van Toll, president; Mrs. Martin Wydeven, first vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Verhoven, second vice president; Mrs. Eugene DeBruin, secretary; Mrs. Victor Courchane, treasurer; Mrs. John Fiers, chaplain; Miss Barbara Porter, historian and Mrs. Joseph LeBlanc, sergeant-at-arms.

New legion officers are Vern Chalupa, commander; Adolph Courchane, first vice commander; Jack Revoir, second vice commander; Richard Lund, adjutant; Joseph Winius, treasurer; Martin Wynaard, sergeant-at-arms; Job Soffa, chaplain; Henry Isatalo, historian; John Porter, service officer, and Thomas Lockschmidt, athletic officer.

Eighth grade students who won American Legion medals for scholastic records were honored at the party together with their parents. Winners were Girarda Wydeven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wydeven, at Holy Name School; George Kirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kirk, at Mount Calvary Lutheran, and Carol Hubers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hubers, public school.

To Your Good Health

Daily Naps Definitely Needed by 3-Year-Old

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. In the case of these grand-children, the clue to the situation is in the fact that they don't nap every day? My grandchildren want to go to bed at any time. When they cry when you see, it isn't a matter of going to bed. It's a protest against going to bed. There are several possible explanations. "I don't planations, and the "I don't want to go to bed" business may result from a combination of factors. At the age of three, children can get themselves so keyed up that, literally, they can't go to sleep. This doesn't mean they don't need sleep. They need it desperately, not be so important, but they but there is no answer except need rest and relaxation. to tuck them away in a quiet place until their tensions unwind and—presto!—suddenly they are asleep.

Habit Factor

A second factor is habit. A child who gets into the habit of making a fuss about going to bed will make a fuss even if, physically, he is exhausted. Indeed, it is often the chronically tired child who creates the most turmoil at bedtime.

The way to handle the problem, and really the only way I know of, is to meet it with complete, calm firmness. No arguments, no bribes, no threats, just an unemotional but implacable putting to bed.

Sometimes, remember, this protest at going to bed is nothing but a means of getting attention, done subconsciously by the child. It may take some time, but when a youngster begins to realize that he doesn't get attention, doesn't manage to hold the center of the stage, by putting on a tantrum, he gives it up.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a spur on the bottom of my heel and it is getting more painful. What can be done about it?

MRS. R. L.

Part of the natural healing process in many instances is the deposition of calcium in the irritated or inflamed area. It makes a strong repair of the wound. If some deeper area (such as the bone of your heel) is damaged, calcium helps repair it, too. A broken leg is healed by (among other things) calcium.

This gets a bit lumpy, like solder or glue or whatever you might use to repair a leaky teakettle or a broken chair.

If the lumpy healed place is on an arm, leg, or rib, it doesn't bother you. But on your heel this lump (or spur) can hurt because you have to walk on it.

A padded inner sole of your shoe may take the pressure off the lumpy spot. If not, then it is not a bad idea to have surgery, so the painful lump of calcium can be removed.

Count your calories the easy way! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Calorie Chart," write Dr. Molner in care of Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Prejudice Deepens Shadow Of Voter at Polling Place

JOHN BARBOUR
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)— Perhaps the darkest part of the shadow cast by the American voter when he steps into the polling booth is his personal prejudice — his likes, his dislikes, his prejudices. These are the political ghosts of an election — the voter's long feelings about a situation or an element of the candidate's personality. In 1960, it was John F. Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion that had included questions of race, religion or personality. In 1964, a critical question involving the election may be public attitude on race, integration and civil violence. Such an issue is ghostly only because it is hard to measure the voter's prejudices are seldom plumbed — they are guessed.

Party Reflections
The Democratic and Republican parties reflect this. Says Prof. Angus Campbell of Survey Research Center of University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research: "The parties won't align on all rights. It's too dangerous. In Europe, each party courts its own people — the farmers, the city workers — and it cares less about anyone else." Campbell explained "But in the United States, both parties are trying to win over everybody — and will do nothing to alienate anyone." Perhaps the best current measure of the racial attitudes at least some voters has been votes for Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace — campaigning in Democratic presidential primaries in North on the issue of state's rights. Does the American voter really consider state's rights an issue?

Federal Encroachment
Not likely, Campbell said. Federal encroachment — real or imagined — is not a great issue. Every time you tell the voter if he wants some federal program like Social Security, he invariably says yes. My guess is that the larger part of the Wallace vote is a protest against the changing racial picture. Actually most of the racial activity on the public scene has been since 1960. Perhaps its first major overt action was in the 1960 campaign — when Republican Henry Cabot Lodge said his party would put a Negro in the Cabinet and John F. Kennedy made a celebrated telephone call to the wife of a jailed integrationist Negro minister the Rev. Martin Luther King.

SRC Interviewers
In the 1960 national interviews by SRC the voter was preoccupied with the race question. When the 250 SRC interviewers asked what voters liked or disliked about individual parties and candidates, they found that for many voters there was one overriding issue — the fact that John F. Kennedy was a Catholic. Kennedy won 80 per cent of the Catholic vote — against 70 per cent a non-Catholic Democrat might expect normally.

Democrat Always
I'm afraid Kennedy is going to win. It's going to be close. I have raised a Democrat. I have always been a Democrat. Kennedy is smart and as far as I am concerned he is all right in a lot of ways, but I hope he don't get off on the heel of the Pope. I don't know where he is going to next time. Many Democrats sneaked out

'Gringos' Are Allowed Again In Panama Bars

Undercurrent of Tension Dampens Colorful People

BY ROBERT BERRELLEZ
PANAMA (AP)—The "gringos out" sign has disappeared from Boly Khan's cocktail lounge and the welcome mat is out for the Yankee visitor. But business is slack.

"It isn't the same and probably never will be again," says a patron.

That about sums up the picture in this deceptively tranquil-looking capital six months after the Canal Zone violence between Panamanians and Americans that claimed more than 20 lives.

A subtle but distinct change has muted Panama's once sprightly, colorful moods. There is an undercurrent of tension. Although the wounds seem healed, tender scars remain.

Heavy Damage

Most heavy damage to buildings and homes on the American side of the Canal Zone border has been repaired. The upper walls of the 12-story legislative palace on the Panamanian side remain bullet-splattered near windows from which snipers fired at American soldiers. Other buildings on the Panama side have bullet marks carefully circled in red paint to attract attention.

The Pan American World Airways building, set afire by rioters in the mistaken belief it was American-owned, remains a burnt-out shell. It once was one of the most attractive buildings in the city.

Canal Zone

Under an agreement to symbolize Panama's titular sovereignty over the Canal Zone, Panamanian flags now fly along side the U.S. banner at 29 public sites in the American-sector. An attempt by Panamanian students to hoist their flag at Balboa High School in the zone led to the January fighting.

Although American tourists freely roam downtown Panama shops in increasing numbers and U.S. citizens living in the city say they are not molested, many American residents refuse to go into Panama City.

A wave of small-scale terrorism and violence of vague origin is helping prolong the state of anxiety under which Panama has lived since January.

The purely national character of the current turbulence has Panamanians looking inward for the source and scope of their new troubles.

Grim Episode

Reminder of the grim episode came last week when the International Jurists' Commission, invited by the Panama Bar Association to look into the disorders, issued a report denying Panama's claims that the United States violated principles of human rights.

Most Panamanians seemed to have only passing interest in the findings. President Roberto Chi-

Star-spangled way to sweeten up your future

And that goes double for the money you put in U.S. Savings Bonds. Because this money helps two ways.

First, it helps your future. Putting youngsters through college. Building homes and summer cottages. Buying cruises for you and the spouse. You dream it, Bonds can deliver it.

Second, it helps your country now, by making Uncle Sam a stronger influence in an unsettled world.

Your fellow Americans have tucked over 47 billion dollars into U.S. Savings Bonds. Why not join them? There's no safer investment anywhere in the world.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get 3 1/2% more money when they mature (7 years, 9 months)
- You pay no state or local tax and can defer the federal tax until the Bonds are cashed
- You can get your money when you need it
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Tax Cut Results Whet Appetites for Reforms

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—First economic fruits of the federal income tax cut are whetting some congressional appetites for further tax revisions. Suggestions range from comparatively minor tax relief to adopting levies until now untried in this country.

The House Ways and Means Committee this week is studying what to do about excise taxes or several substitute levies, including the value-added tax on manufacturing. This European variant could replace the excise or sales tax or even lower the corporate income tax.

The administration is reportedly studying the possibility of greater use of income taxes as an economic weapon against any future recession.

The argument is that if cutting individual and corporate income taxes by some $11.5 billion a year is good for this year's economy, why wouldn't other tax reforms be just the right medicine for future economic upsets? The likely stumbling block is that the administration would like the power to raise or lower income tax rates quickly at any sign of trouble and Congress is loathe to give up its right to make any changes, and at its own pace.

The House later this week will get around to a more specific and present matter—the extension for another year of the present excise or sales taxes on cosmetics, jewelry, handbags, furs and the like.

Since they bring in a fairly regular and dependable revenue, while income tax receipts swing widely with economic ups and downs, the excise taxes have strong supporters in Congress and the administration.

And some would like to see more reliance on federal sales taxes and less on income taxes that may discourage investment.

One argument against this is that sales taxes should be left to the state and local governments. Another is that the levies penalize the industries whose products are singled out for the special taxation.

The newcomer to the debate this year is the European value-added tax. A sales or excise tax is based on the price at which a manufacturer sells his product, or on the price at which the ultimate consumer buys it from a store.

The value-added tax is based on the gross receipts or sales of the manufacturer minus the cost of goods or materials he purchased from others. The value he has added to these raw materials for the tax's purposes includes wages, salaries, rent, interest and profits.

The value-added tax is also paid by all the manufacturer's suppliers. Proponents stress that this puts the burden on all stages of production while the excise tax affects only the finished item. Also a low rate would bring in large sums to the Treasury.

Democrats Hint Bittner Will Be Re-Elected

Party Treasurer
Won't be Opposed
At Convention

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Robert Bittner, Green Bay lawyer and close friend of Gov. John W. Reynolds, will be re-elected treasurer of the Democratic party organization of Wisconsin without opposition, informed party quarters agreed today.

"I know of no one who will run against him," said Louis Hanson, state chairman of the party. Hanson has sometimes been at odds with Gov. Reynolds' "faction" of the party which installed Bittner as head of Democratic financial arrangements six months ago in a lively dispute with Hanson and Sen. Gaylord Nelson.

Bittner is a candidate for a Full Term full term in the party office, which will be voted upon at the annual delegate convention of the party in Milwaukee next weekend.

The party's chief financier has become a more important position in recent years because of the increasing costs of political campaigns.

Reynolds Intervened
Gov. Reynolds intervened on behalf of his old friend and one-time law partner because he has the most at stake this year, as a candidate for re-election in what may be an arduous and close campaign.

Meanwhile it appeared likely that David Carley of Madison, a close friend of Sen. Nelson, would be installed as the new Democratic national committeeman for the party at the Milwaukee convention, without a contest.

Carley would succeed to the office which Patrick J. Lucey of Madison will give up after the Democratic national convention at Atlantic City in August. He will quit to run for lieutenant governor on the ticket headed by Gov. Reynolds.

Scientists Hold Symposium on Lunar Flight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The mystery of how the earth and moon were formed could be cleared up with samples from the lunar surface.

How to select these samples and bring them back to earth for study were being discussed today by 110 scientists in a manned lunar exploration symposium at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

The group on Monday heard space agency scientists explain the limitations and restrictions on the potential experiments.

An engineer in a spacesuit showed how an astronaut's movements would be restricted in a fully inflated suit, and movies were shown of the difficulty an astronaut would have in the one-sixth gravity on the moon.

Chisox Retain Slim Hold on AL's Top Spot

Split With Orioles; Kansas City Runs Win Streak to 5

BY MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that Mel McGaha has gotten a rise out of the Kansas City Athletics, will he get a raise from Charles Finley?

McGaha, who succeeded Eddie Lopat as manager, has been on the job only five days, but in that time the Athletics have compiled a five-game winning streak after losing the first under their new field boss.

The surging A's stormed to within one game of ninth place in the American League Tuesday night, whipping Detroit 7-4 and 6-0.

The double victory came hours after Finley announced he had ripped up contracts of three players and given them raises. The Kansas City owner cited shortstop Wayne Causey and pitchers Orlando Pena and John Wyatt for "the outstanding job they have been doing."

If their jobs have been outstanding, McGaha's — based on Kansas City standards — has been amazing. When he assumed control of the Athletics last week, McGaha said he planned nothing drastic.

Downright Shocking A five-game Athletics' winning streak isn't drastic; it's downright shocking. The flurry marks the first time since last July Kansas City has won more than three in a row. At that time, the string also ran to five.

If the present streak is extended to six tonight in Detroit, Finley may take another look at McGaha's contract.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday night, Chicago maintained its slim hold on first place by splitting with Baltimore, the White Sox winning the first 5-0 and losing the second 3-1.

New York outlasted Boston 7-5 after dropping a 6-5 decision. Cleveland outslugged Minnesota 5-3 and Los Angeles got by Washington 7-5 in 10 innings.

Bill Bryan propelled the Athletics to their second-game triumph, driving in five runs with two homers. He connected with one on in the fourth and with two on in the ninth. Ted Bowsfield, scattered eight hits, became the first pitcher to shut out the Tigers this season.

Kansas City scored six runs after two were out in the fourth inning of the opener. Pitcher Diego Segui sent three of the

NL Umpires Slate Talks With Officials

Strike Threat Fades; Parley Set for July 6

CHICAGO (AP)—The threatened strike of National League umpires on July 3 has faded and more than half of the 20 dissatisfied arbiters will call them as they see them in a July 6 pension peace parley in New York.

The squabble by the National League Umpire Association took a temperate twist Tuesday when its Chicago attorney said 11 men in blue would confer with the league executive committee the day before the All-Star baseball game in New York.

The two sides will consider the umpires' demand for increasing from $200 to $300 a year their pension for each year of service.

On May 26, the association rejected NL President Warren Giles' offer of a $250 pension compromise and set July 3 as deadline for "appropriate action," generally interpreted as a walkout.

The umpires' attorney, John J. Reynolds, disclosed at a news conference:

1. That Giles, in behalf of the National League, requested that all of the umpire association officers, plus the National League three-man crew working the All-Star game, meet with the NL Executive Committee July 6.

2. That, pending this parley, the umpires "suspended" their July 3 terminal date for negotiations.

3. That the conclusions of the NL Executive Committee—composed of John Holland of the Chicago Cubs, Bill DeWitt of the Cincinnati Reds and John McHale of the Milwaukee Braves—will be reported to a full National League meeting prior to Aug. 15.

4. That if the executive committee flatly rejects the umpire pitch for the $300 yearly pension setup "we'll have to decide our next step."

The National League Umpires' Association has no counterpart in the American League, whose umpires this spring got a boost from $150 to $250 yearly in their Braves, New York Giants and pension plan.

National Open Will be Played on Longest Course in Its History

Sam Snead Still Seeks First Win; Palmer Eyes Second Leg of 'Slam'

BY JIM BECKER WASHINGTON (AP)—Ever since Sam Snead buried his 100th tomato can full of money, people have been saying that "this is his last chance" to win the U.S. Open, the one golf title that has always got away.

That was many tomato cans ago. Snead is in his 24th consecutive Open at the Congressional Country Club starting Thursday and there is one fellow in the field who says that this is the time that the 52-year-old slammer could break through at last.

Snead's booster is Jack Nicklaus, the 24-year-old Ohio Golden Bear, who rates high on the list of favorites, himself.

"Best Chance" "This course gives Snead his best chance to win in many, many years," Nicklaus said. "It calls for long drives, but there is plenty of fairway so they don't all have to be straight."

"A good long-iron player will do well. And putting will not be as important as it is in some other tournaments, because many players in the field won't be reaching these long holes in two. When everybody is on in two, it's a putting contest."

"You put all that together and it pretty well describes Snead's game, doesn't it?" Of course, it also describes Nicklaus' game, too. And Arnold Palmer's. And almost nobody else's.

Nicklaus and Palmer, as usual, are the main objects of attention among the field of 150

Marquette Grants Scholarship to 6-Foot-9 Center

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Marquette University said Tuesday an athletic scholarship has been granted to Jim Goodin, a 6-foot-9 basketball center from Indianapolis Cathedral High School. The 17-year-old Goodin had been sought by a number of major colleges even though he played only one year of high school basketball after early prep training in a seminary.

Other prep athletes to sign Marquette letters of intent this spring were Mike Curran of Antigo, Blanton Simmons of Milwaukee North and Brad Luchini of West Allis Hale.

Dick Culler, Former Brave, Dies at 49 HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—Richard B. (Dick) Culler, a High Point businessman and former professional baseball player, died Tuesday night. He was 49.

Culler played pro ball for 15 years, five of them in the major leagues. He played for the Chicago White Sox, Milwaukee Braves, New York Giants and Boston Braves.

King Triumphs Over Debuque In Relief Role

DUBUQUE — Excellent relief pitching by Henry King and a 350-foot homer over the left field wall by John Burrows in the ninth inning gave the Fox Cities Foxes a 4-3 Midwest League victory over Dubuque here Tuesday night.

King came on in relief of Ed Petryshyn in the seventh inning and checked the Packers the remainder of the game without a hit. King allowed one runner to reach base (a walk with two out in the ninth) in the 2-3 innings he worked.

Burrows' homer broke a 3-3 deadlock and gave King his fourth victory in six decisions. The Foxes scraped a pair of runs in the first inning when John Sepich led off with a walk. He advanced on a passed ball. Dave May bunted for a base hit and a throwing error scored Sepich on the play, with May reaching second. Fred Rico grounded out, advancing May to third. May scored on a wild pitch by losing pitcher Bob Ceresse.

Retires 12 Straight Ceresse stopped the Foxes on one hit until the eighth inning. He retired 12 straight at one time.

King survived on an error in the eighth and three successive singles by John Matias, May and Rico followed. May's single scored King.

Dubuque had trouble with Petryshyn in the initial five frames. The lanky Foxes' hurler faced only 16 men and yielded two hits. A double play erased one of the runners.

The Packers reached Petryshyn in the sixth for a pair of runs without benefit of a hit. Dave Nelson, Frank Baker.

Reichardt Slates Visits With Los Angeles Clubs

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin's Rick Reichardt, the Big Ten Conference's two-time batting champion and the object of a chase by big league scouts, boarded a jet today for Los Angeles and visits with the Dodgers and Angels.

Reichardt said Tuesday he planned to spend about five days with officials of the two Los Angeles teams, then return to his home in Stevens Point to make a decision on whether he'll return to school for his senior year or make baseball a career.

He is expected to sign eventually for a record bonus of $200,000—or more.

"I definitely have no plans to sign with anyone in Los Angeles even if I'm asked," Reichardt said. "I have about four more teams to talk to when I get home and I've made commit-

Dodgers' Drysdale Stops Milwaukee

Hurls 4-Hit, 5-1 Victory; Spahn Loses

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After a day of play in L.A., the Milwaukee Braves have had another game slip away.

The Braves didn't really slip, but they were slugged as the Los Angeles Dodgers used the long ball in taking a 5-1 victory Tuesday night.

A triple by Willie Davis drove in two Dodger runs and the first of two doubles by Johnny Roseboro accounted for another. And while the Dodgers were having their way with Warren Spahn, who had beaten them six straight times, Don Drysdale held the Braves to four hits.

Spahn, who is now 5-5, last lost to the Dodgers by a 2-1 score in Milwaukee on June 13, 1962. The victory was the ninth for Drysdale in 14 decisions.

The Braves, who were idle on Monday after sweeping a doubleheader from the Dodgers Sunday, held on to fifth place, but are now 5½ games behind league-leading Philadelphia. The sixth-place Dodgers are only a game behind Milwaukee.

The first division perch will be at stake when the clubs square off in the series finale tonight. The Braves had won their last four games in Los Angeles, and four of the five starts prior to Tuesday night's game.

Gives Up 6 Hits

Spahn, who gave up six hits before bowing out for a pinch-batter in the eighth, had himself to blame for the first Dodger run. With two out in the first, Wes Parker singled, raced to third on a high pick-off attempt, throw by Spahn and then scored on a passed ball.

The Dodgers got another run in the fourth as Roseboro doubled home Tommy Davis.

In the seventh, Roseboro doubled again and after a fly out, moved to third on an infield out. Spahn then gave up his third walk, putting Drysdale on base.

Cedar Rapids Has New Outfielder

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds said Tuesday they have signed John Noel, a promising young outfielder from California, to a contract with their Cedar Rapids farm club.

Noel, who hit .504 for his North Salinas High School, bats left handed and throws right-handed. The 5-8, 180 pound outfielder will report shortly.

Palmer Embarrassed; Fails to Cover Cost Of Practice Balls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Millionaire Arnold Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner, was temporarily embarrassed Tuesday when he went out to practice for the National Open Tournament.

He didn't have 65 cents in his pocket to pay for a bucket of practice balls.

Failing to float a quick loan, Palmer turned to a large gallery and said: "Anybody got change for a $100 bill?"

All he got was a loud guffaw.

Phillies Increase Lead As Cincinnati Thumps San Francisco, 9 to 4

Philadelphia Beats Cubs; Pinson Stars In Reds' Victory

BY MIKE RATHET

"If some of the young kids come through—like that young Warren Spahn—I feel we will have a good club."

Warren Spahn said it.

Warren Spahn isn't doing it.

The ace Milwaukee left-hander, oldest player in the majors at 43, showed his age again Tuesday night, failing for the sixth straight time to finish what he started and dropping a 5-1 decision to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

And it just may be that after a major league career spanning 20 seasons, 691 games and 4,974 innings, the left arm that has been working effortlessly for so many years may finally be feeling the strain.

Spahn, who entered organized baseball with Bradford of the Pony League in 1940, showed no signs of slowing down last year as he posted a 23-7 record and hit the 20-victory circle for the 13th time. But the greatest left-hander in baseball history has been running into trouble this season.

Has Won 355

Spahn has brought his career victory total to 355 with five triumphs this season but also has added five losses for 221 lifetime.

Along with the mediocre 5-5 record goes an even more unimpressive 4.32 earned run average.

Spahn's latest loss was his first to the Dodgers in more than two years. He had won six in a row dating back to June 13, 1962. He was locked in a duel with Don Drysdale for seven innings. Then Willie Davis smacked a key two-run triple and it was all over.

Meanwhile, the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies edged the Chicago Cubs 4-2 and moved one game in front of the San Francisco Giants, who lost to Cincinnati 9-4.

Elsewhere, St. Louis snapped a five-game losing streak by walloping Houston 7-1 and Pittsburgh edged the New York Mets 2-1.

Willie Davis then connected for his two-run triple in the seventh and wrapped up the three-run outburst against Spahn by scoring on a single by Maury Wills. Drysdale, bringing his record to 9-5, checked the Braves on four hits.

John Herrnstein homered for the Phillies, who scored the decisive run in the fourth on a double by Tony Gonzalez, an infield out and Bobby Wine's squeeze bunt.

The Cubs threatened to pull it out in the seventh with two runs in and two men on but John Callison raced to the wall in left center at Wrigley Field and made a leaping one-handed catch of Billy Williams' long drive.

Vada Pinson and Leo Cardenas hit two-run homers as the Reds built an 8-0 lead before the Giants finally scored against John Tsitouris in the seventh on Orlando Cepeda's three-run homer.

Pinson Homers

Pinson was the key man for the Reds, rapping a hit-and-run single in the first that set up a run, homering in the third and driving in another run with a single in the eighth.

Ken Boyer slammed a homer, triple, double and single for the Cardinals, becoming the first National Leaguer to hit for the cycle this season. Boyer's four hits and three runs batted in led a 15-hit St. Louis attack in support of Curt Simmons.

Simmons, 7-5, allowed only four hits, losing his shutout when Rusty Staub homered for the Colts in the eighth.

Bob Veale started in place of the ailing Bob Friend for the

Mark Meythaler Shoots Par 70

Mark Meythaler dipped one below North Shore Golf Club's par 35 on the front nine and came in on the back with a one-over 36 for an even par card of 70.

John Manier stroked a 1-over par 71 and added scores of 72 and 75.

Wade Blasingame Recalled; Roof Sent to Denver

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Who's on first for the Milwaukee Braves? was the question. Ty Cline, the outfielder, was the answer.

Cline, who came to the Braves when they sent Joe Adcock away to the Cleveland Indians before the 1963 season, had the first turn of his career at first base Tuesday night in the Braves' 5-1 loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Cline failed to hit but he did get on base on an error in the third, only to be retired on a doubleplay. And, he was at first when Warren Spahn threw high in the first inning trying to pick off Wes Parker. The Dodger rookie ran all the way to third and scored the first Los Angeles run on a passed ball.

The use of Cline at first represented something like the 45th lineup employed by Manager Bobby Bragan.

And there will be at least one new face in the Milwaukee lineup. Called up from the minors

Lorraine Beck Hits 590 in Couples Loop

Lorraine Beck blasted games of 222 and 192 and finished with a 590 series to lead the Spring Tonic Mixed Couples Bowling League at Lakewood Lanes, Neenah, in recent action.

Louis Jungwirth cracked a 600 series for the top men's score.

Other honor counts included

Jim Koslowski, 233-584; Ron Beck, 567; William Shink, 234; Verna Drucks, 192 and Elsie Ross, 519.

Peter's Bar Downs Mellow Gold 16-11

KAUKAUNA — Peter's Bar rolled to a 16-11 win over Mellow Gold in a City Softball League game limited to five innings by mutual agreement.

The losers played with six men. Ken Smith, losing hurler, gave up nine hits, but allowed 12 runs on five hits in the fifth which included eight walks. The losers managed 11 hits off Tom Resch.

Foxes Score 4-3 Victory

Ralph Gagliano, Joe Taormina and Chuck Gross worked the Foxes' southpaw for walks in succession.

Dubuque went ahead, 3-2, in the seventh when Mike Pavich opened with a double. Bob Ceresse singled him home and Petryshyn gave way to King.

Michigan Youth Signed by Cards For $80,000

DETROIT (AP)—Art (Pinky) Deras, 17, of Hamtramck, Mich., Monday signed a reported $80,000 baseball bonus contract with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"He has the talent to reach the majors in two years," said Cardinal scout Moe Mozzali, of the Hamtramck High School senior who was Little League Player of the Year when Hamtramck won the Little League World Series title at Williamsport, Pa., in 1959.

The Cardinals reportedly outbid half a dozen major league teams for Deras, who batted .478 this season.

Evelyn Myers Bowls 550 Set

Evelyn Myers rolled a 195 game and a 550 series to pace the Out-For-Fun pin league at the 41 Bowl.

Viking Theatre (13-2) leads the league with Rainbow Supper Club just a half game off the pace.

Other honor scores included Grace Hanby, 192; Irene Rondou, 210-503 and Jackie McKenzie, 190. Avita Kramer cleaned the 5-7 split.

Juan Pizarro limited the Orioles to three hits, all singles, in the first game. He received home run support from Pete Ward in the sixth and Floyd Robinson in the seventh. The victory was Pizarro's eighth against three defeats.

Steve Barber came back and checked the White Sox on four hits in the nightcap. Barber brought his record to 3-3, pitching his first complete game this season. He also drove in Baltimore's third run.

Joe Pepitone knocked in six runs in the Yankees' doubleheader, four in the second game victory. Included was a two-run homer in the fifth. Tom Tresh batted in the other three runs, two on a homer in the seventh. Their hitting brought Whitey Ford his ninth straight triumph since losing on opening day.

Frank Malzone's two-run homer in the eighth inning won the opener for the Red Sox. He connected after Jim Bouton walked Dick Stuart. Ed Bressoud drove in two runs for Boston, one on a second-inning homer. Roger Maris homered in the eighth for New York.

One Man, One Vote

The sweeping decision of the United States Supreme Court decreeing that the seats in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on a population basis spells turmoil in most of the states of the union because a majority of state legislatures are not so apportioned. But in this matter Wisconsin is fortunate because the members of both the state senate and assembly are elected from districts which were recently reapportioned by the state supreme court on a population basis.

The decision specifically held invalid an apportionment plan recently enacted by the Alabama legislature. But in separate decisions it also went on to pronounce unconstitutional the legislative apportionment system of New York State, held that a 1962 reapportionment in both houses of the Maryland legislature is not "constitutionally sustainable," made the same judgment on the Virginia general assembly, and ordered the Delaware legislature reapportioned on population lines. Any other states where area considerations are used in electing members of one or both houses now know that they must act to put themselves in line with the decision.

The court held that the federal government, where senators represent areas rather than populations, can not be used as a model for state governments nor as an excuse to justify area representation in state governments. Said Chief Justice Warren: "Attempted reliance on the federal analogy appears often to be little more than after-the-fact rationalization offered in defense of maladjusted state apportionment arrangements.

"We mean that the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution requires that a state make an honest and good-faith effort to construct districts in both houses of its legislature as nearly of equal population as is practicable."

Political implications of the decision were so widespread that they could not be gauged immediately. In New York, for instance, the decision may mean that New York City, heavily Democratic, might get control of the state legislature, traditionally Republican. But Republicans might gain elsewhere because they are heavily represented in suburbs of big cities around the country. The large suburban areas of cities appeared to be the principal gainers under the ruling.

There is one possible application of the decision to Wisconsin which is important. The forceful enunciation of the necessity for observing the principle of one-man, one-vote in all levels of government below the federal system would seem to have application to Wisconsin's system of county government where supervisors are elected on a unit basis which defies the principles of population representation. This system is now being challenged in the state supreme court, and the latest federal court decision may well be another nail in the coffin of this obsolete form of county government.

Federal School Aids

The time for preparing proposed 1965 municipal budgets is just a few months away and it would seem the Appleton Board of Education has some unfinished business to transact before submitting its annual request for operational and capital outlay monies to the Council's budget examining committee.

Construction of the new $13 million Albert Einstein Junior High School has started and the board has yet to make a policy reappraisal on whether it intends to accept automatic federal aid which is available in connection with the amount of space devoted to science classrooms and instruction.

The grant, if accepted, would amount to several thousand dollars which could be applied to the cost of building and operating the new school.

It would seem the board's reevaluation of its long-standing policy of turning thumbs down to federal grants is a must at this time especially when it is talking in terms of constructing a new southside senior high school at a cost of more than four million dollars.

Surely funds provided through the National Defense Act will be available for application toward erection and operation of the multi-million dollar high school.

The School Board announced some time ago it would make a complete reevaluation of the question of accepting federal aids. With these expensive building projects on the board, the public is entitled to the considered opinion of the School Board on this policy question.

Senators at Large

Pierre Salinger's victory in the California primary race for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator came about despite the fact he had not lived in the state for almost a decade and had been a registered voter in Virginia. The United States Constitution which governs the election of members of Congress merely stipulates that a candidate must be an "inhabitant" of the state in which he runs at the time of election. Although Salinger was not eligible to vote for himself in California, he could be a legal candidate.

Salinger's success is bound to encourage such types of candidacies in other parts of the country.

At present Attorney General Robert Kennedy is reportedly considering running for the senate in the state of New York although his ties to that state are only as a tourist. But Kennedy is handicapped in Massachusetts since his brother is already the junior senator from that state. And Bobby apparently does not want to get into a conflict with the present governor, Endicott Peabody, who is eligible for another term.

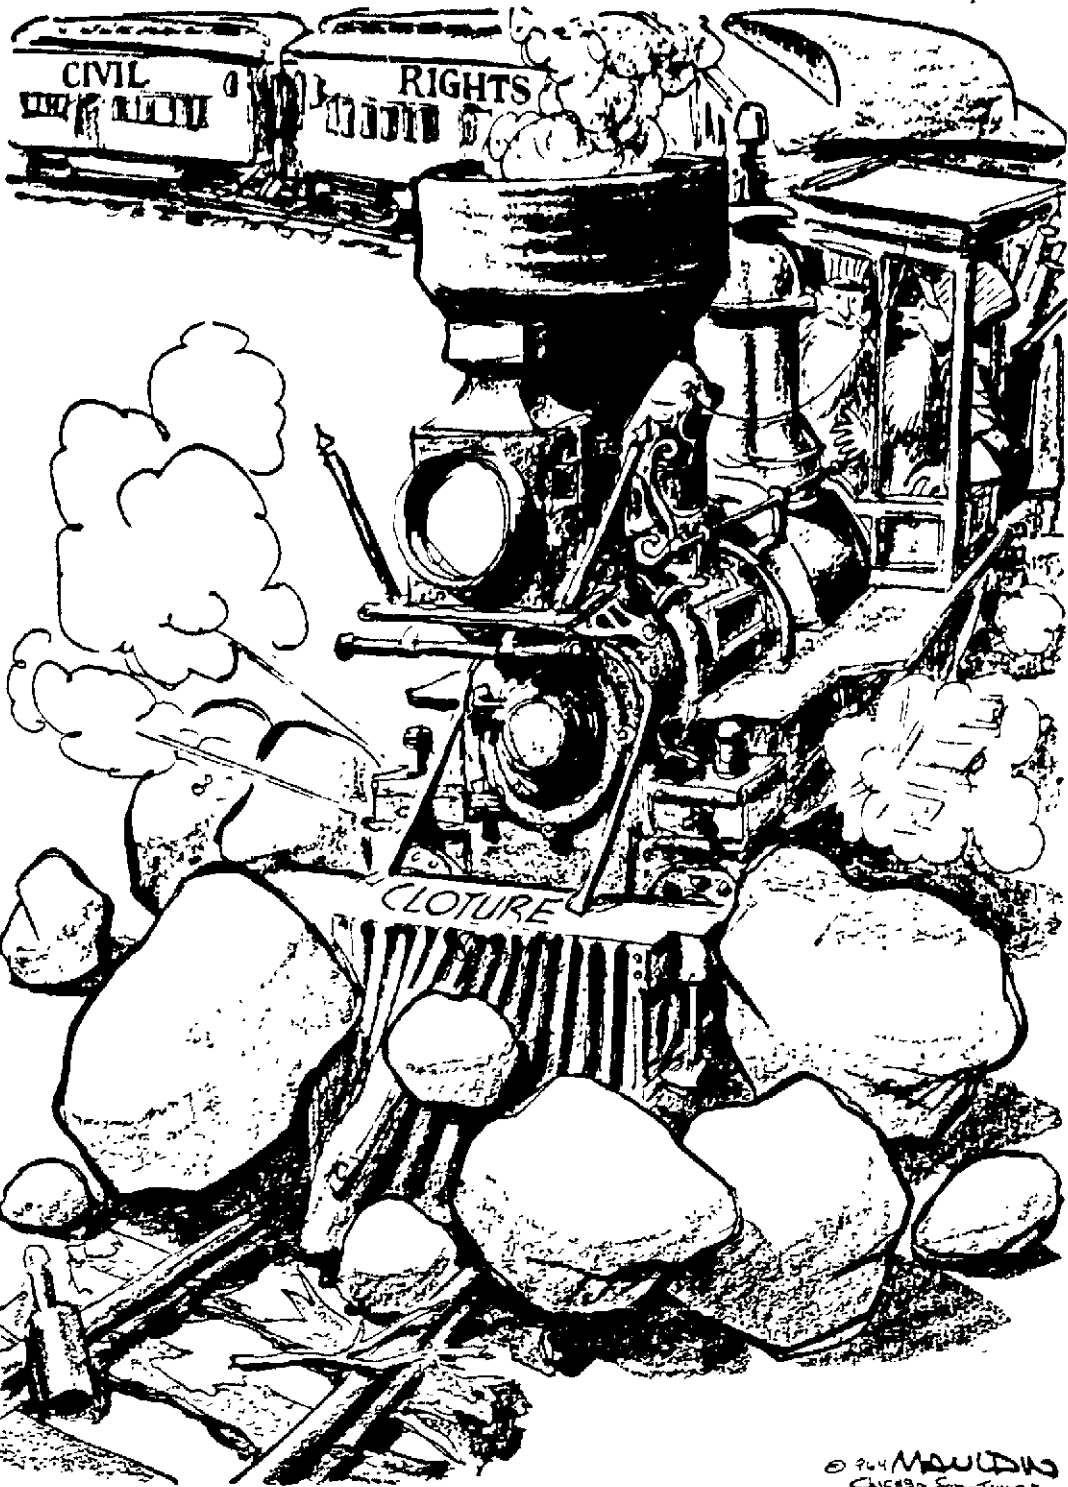

Salinger unabashedly used his association with the late President Kennedy in his campaign. The Attorney General's relationship to the assassinated president should also work in his favor.

United States Senators of course are opposed to represent the entire country and all its people in Washington. But they are something of a holdover of area representation as opposed to the population representation built into the election formula for the House of Representatives. If running for office in a strange state becomes more common—and it may with the device of using a federal appointment as a spring board — area representation as such will completely disappear.

Only a few years ago there was antagonism toward outside help for local candidates. Charges of interference by Madison avenue hucksters, Eastern liberals and Texas oilmen were used in Wisconsin as well as other states. It is a little hard yet to conceive of a northerner winning a senate seat in the Deep South or of a southwesterner getting many votes in New England. But as Americans move from one community to another—and as they become more alike due both to travel and the leveling effects of television—there is likely to be more and more such elections as that of Salinger.

This is one nation and conceivably such representation is all right. And yet there is something disturbing in the trend. The loss of all regional characteristics in the United States Congress would be more than the loss of colorful contrasts.

That Peoria Editor Was Right Saying Badgers Are Discontent

Editor, Post-Crescent:

This is an open letter to the Peoria, Ill., Journal-Star in regard to an article which appeared in the Appleton Post-Crescent. It is very evident that one of your writers is not at all familiar with Wisconsin.

If the rented apartments, the riotous living, the financed cars, boats, and vacations are status symbols of the prosperous, highly educated, liberal industrial south I for one am glad to be an illiterate hillbilly of the north!

If the popular concept of Wisconsin is based on the "industrial south" it is high time that the tenant in the governor's mansion be served an eviction notice and he be replaced with someone who will work with the constructive legislature to rebuild Wisconsin.

We have the scenic recreational area of the north. There are industries of all types scattered throughout the state.

Fleeing Facts About Space Travel

From Exchanges

Two Soviet writers have advanced a claim that on at least three occasions since 1882 light signals have reached the earth from intelligent beings living somewhere remote in space. They speculated that the "Tungus phenomenon," an extraterrestrial body which struck the earth in Siberia June 30, 1908, and which has been explained as a giant meteor or small comet, was in fact a response to observed effects on the distant planet of the Krakatau volcano eruption of Aug. 27, 1883. The elapsed time was calculated as that required for light signals to reach a planet in the constellation Swan and return.

The still unsolved trouble with such a long-range communication, however, is that by the time any message could travel that far, it probably would no longer be true.

included Mrs. Charles Wood, president, Mrs. Robert Kiel and Mrs. Paul Doerfler, vice presidents, Mrs. John Fiers, treasurer, Mrs. William Anderson, chairman, Mrs. Susan Herz, sergeant-at-arms.

Officers of the Appleton Civic League to fill the unexpired terms of Norma Moore and Nancy Carrill were Barbara Jesse as vice president, Mary Jane Young and Gene Burke, secretaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stenwig, Jr. were a mainstay of the headquarters dinner given Sunday at Suite des Morts Golf Club.

Mrs. Robert Greenwood was the new president of Faith Lutheran Guild. Her chairmanship appointments to standing committees included Mrs. Esther Hartman, Mrs. Walter Zimmerman, Mrs. Edwin Finner, Mrs. Arnold Adam and Mrs. Walter Witt.

These include lumber, manufacturing, paper, and food processing. Beautiful farms with a full line of modern machinery, large herds of cattle that produce a "surplus" of dairy products which are so wholesome and healthful.

Yes, we are the area that spawned the great Senator McCarthy. This fine man would very likely still be serving us in Washington if his life had not been snuffed out. If this man who tried to keep American principles alive is a character assassin then I suggest that your writer search his conscience. His ridicule of the Wisconsin people is slanderous.

In regard to Gov. Wallace? Well, first of all the Republicans gave the Democrats some of their own medicine. Democrats have repeatedly crossed party lines to split the Republican vote. (Revenge is so sweet). But then many Democrats have become disatisfied with the self-appointed favorite son and gave Wallace the vote for spite.

And some people felt that Wallace was a good man. The U.S. is the melting pot of the world. Every segment of the country has its racial problems and no amount of legislation is going to solve it. When local people apply for jobs and are told "We can not hire you till we have hired a required number of Negroes," this is discrimination in the worst sense since there are no Negroes living in the area.

Is Wisconsin discontent? Very much so! It is discontent to see America drift farther and farther from the conservative principles, being prod on by the liberals to deeper confusion and finally into Communism. One man says "We have been traveling at an ever faster rate. The present administration has, however, increased the speed from 30 to 100 miles." Let's hope the people wake up in time. And the time is now. Even now we can only hope it is not too late. Let's back the type of leadership that will give America back the self-respect to which she is entitled in the world.

Seconds Motion for Longer Hours at City Swim Pools

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I'll second the motion for longer hours at the swimming pools this summer. This is a long overdue needed improvement in the summer recreation program.

As it is now, the pools are open to the public a total of thirty-six hours in a full week of seven days. Three hours on Sunday are ridiculous considering the very short season when we have good swimming weather. These pools should be open through the noon hour and through the supper hour. There are working people who would be glad of a chance to take a short swim at these times.

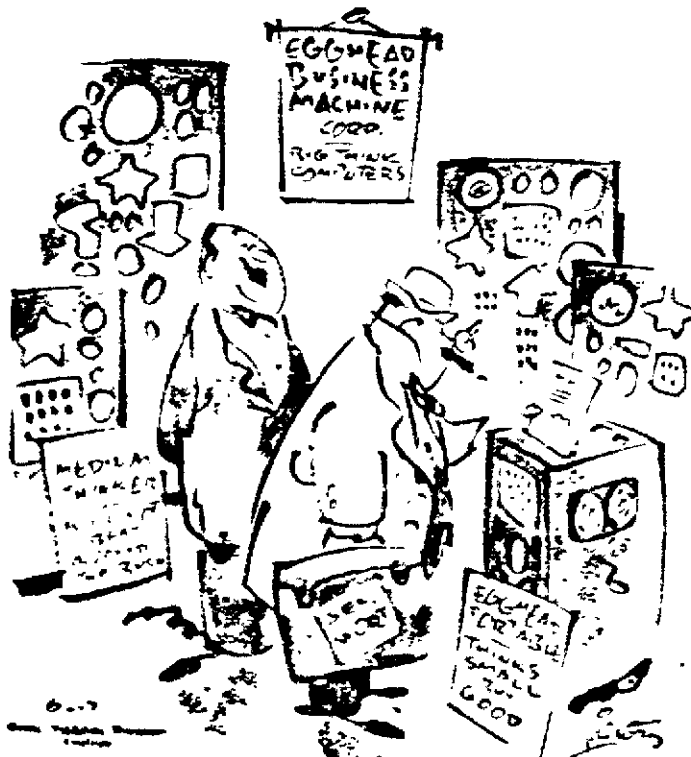

You are lucky to get in the pools at ten minutes past two, and luckier to be able to stay until five o'clock. That is, if you are lucky not to be shoed out by ten minutes to five.

The congestion is terrific during the few available hours and kids (and adults) are constantly being whistled at for things that would not be happening if the crowds could be spread out more evenly during the day. Some of us go to the Neenah and Menasha pools to swim at hours when our own pools are closed, but this should not be necessary.

Economic Crisis in Menominee County Needs Re-Evaluation

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There is a melancholy irony in the fact that while the national government is dramatically engaged in historic legislation involving the rights of the country's principal minority and is declaring war on poverty, there is little heed paid to the distress of the tiny minority represented by the Menominee Indians of Wisconsin.

Wyngaard

The bold experiment of freeing the Menominees from their status as wards of the national government and terminating their identity as a reservation community five years ago is in imminent danger of collapse, as Gov. Reynolds was trying to say when he appealed for help to the U. S. Department of Interior last week.

Unless the national government restores some degree of responsibility for Washington assistance to the Menominees, it is perfectly plain that the community will become a costly and perhaps permanent dependency of the state.

THE FACTS

The governor's urgent call to Secretary Udall for assistance recited the evident facts of the Menominee situation which strangely have not yet been accepted by many politicians and others who have been so conspicuously concerned about the group in earlier years.

The minimum requirements of local government cannot be met in Menominee County, as the record has already shown, because there does not exist a tax base sufficient to support them.

Moreover, even the most optimistic state officials who participated in the establishment of the independent Indian community are now acknowledging that there is not much hope for the development of a local economy that will make the Indians truly self-sufficient. The only real resource in an economic way is the tribal forest and the associated lumber mill, which is clearly inadequate to provide the sustenance needed and predicted when the national government ended its direct responsibility for the tribe over its protests.

The school program of the Menominees would not be financially solvent today, except for the so-called "transitional aids" provided from the federal treasury and due to be ended next year under the terms of the present law. It was the spectre of complete cessation of Washington support next year that brought the governor's appeal for a reassessment of the national government's obligations toward the liberated tribe.

STATE INACTION

The state government acknowledged a responsibility also when it supplemented the federal termination act with legislation of its own, including the act setting up the separate county and municipal governmental structure for the Indians.

But through perplexity or indifference or both there is little disposition among state officials today to admit that problems exist there.

As an example, three months ago Attorney General George Thompson, chairman of the special Menominee Indian commission which was set up as a kind of watchdog when the new county was created, called a meeting to hear complaints and worries of the Indians. The commission concluded that it should set up a special committee to make a completely new review of the Indian situation, for the guidance of the 1963 legislature. But twelve weeks later the attorney general has not yet moved to create that special study group.

The Menominee community today is an enclave of increasingly worried and embittered citizens, bitterly recalling that they foresaw their present troubles when the officials of the national government paid no heed five years ago. The question Wisconsin will face soon is whether the Congress should be urged to reconsider its decision. The alternative may be a permanent an costly addition to the expenditure commitments of the state government.

Strictly Personal

Prime of Life Both Raw and Overcooked

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I wrenched my shoulder playing tennis the other day, and lying under the heat lamp, I reflected on what is wrong with being middle-aged. What is wrong is that you never feel middle-aged.

Harris

At least I don't. Half the time I feel 18, and the other half 108. In the medium zone of life, I experience no happy medium — only an oscillation between the extremes of adolescence and senility.

Still young enough to want to whistle at the girls as they pass in their summer dresses — and old enough to remember that most of them are younger than my own daughter.

Still young enough to play three sets of tennis (though dubious, naturally) in the broiling sun — and old enough to welcome the heat lamp and the excuse for not playing the rest of the week.

Still young enough to stay up until the shameful hours dancing and making more of a fool of myself than nature intended — and old enough to crawl into bed the next night at 8 p.m., cranking in every bone.

Middle age is a trick and a trap. It promises what it cannot perform. It now tries to imitate its younger in abandon and now its elders in wisdom — and sprawls foolishly between the two.

Schopenhauer said that "The first forty years of life give us the text; the next thirty supply the commentary." But middle-age is the time when most of us are frantically engaged in revising the text, in trying to delete, add and re-edit the first edition of ourselves — and the commentary is provided by our survivors, who with secret Schadenfreude point out the misprints to one another.

Youth feels young, and old age feels old, almost all the time. The former recognize no limitations, and the latter accept them docilely. Nobody has to teach himself to be young, and nobody needs to be told how to be old. But middle-age is primarily a process of re-education: of learning where the limits are, of pacing oneself as a dash runner has to do when he is suddenly forced to become a miler.

I exaggerate, of course; it is not wholly unpleasant, by any means, and every age has its special compensations, its own bouquet, its perquisites and pleasures. In general, however, what is called "the prime of life" is both raw and overcooked at the same time; and the spiritual digestion, like the physical one, cannot absorb the insults we used to glory in giving it.

The need for the glory is still there, and that's the rub. Waking up, the middle-aged man feels he can still lick the world, by noon, he feels lucky if he can get through the day without an aspirin. The only excess he can safely practice is the excess of moderation.

Naturally Gov. Rockefeller can expect a telegram reading "Congratulations on your stunning triumph in California." Signed, Gov. George Wallace.

Rocky and Barry are still fussing about the mainstream of Republican thought. They don't seem to realize that an other name for it is the big mud.

Johnson Asks Unity on U.S. Manpower Policy

Nation to Encounter Big Changes

CLEVELAND (AP) — President Johnson called today for the establishment of a national manpower policy through cooperation of labor, management and government.

Johnson said a coordinated policy is urgently needed because the economy faces "vast and troubling changes" during the rest of the decade.

In an address at the annual convention of the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, Johnson cited three on-rushing developments that he said require the establishment of a national manpower policy: The replacement of men by machines, the decline in jobs for the unskilled, and the dramatic growth of the labor force.

"It is time," the President said, "for labor and management and government to cooperate in establishing a national manpower policy — a policy which will assess our future needs and help aim all our programs of training and education — government and private alike — toward filling those needs."

Johnson was a bit vague about the precise machinery he would plan to employ in drafting a manpower program. He said existing labor-management committees "will contribute to such a policy," and a recently appointed cabinet committee will "consider the broadest aspects of such a policy."

Beyond that, he said, "I will take further steps, in cooperation with labor and business, to

Attack Comes After About Month of Comparative Quiet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Communist Viet Cong battalion backed by mortars attacked a big government outpost 15 miles west of Saigon early today but was thrown back by an American military spokesman reported.

Nineteen guerrillas and 13 government troops were killed during the attack on Duc Hoa, the spokesman said. Thirty-six of the defenders were reported wounded.

The Viet Cong withdrew from the region at dawn. A government force was sent after them.

Month of Quiet

The Viet Cong attack came after a month of comparative lull in the Vietnamese war. The sounds and flashes of artillery fire could be heard and seen by Saigon residents before dawn.

A Ministry of Defense spokesman said the Communists were repelled after three hours of fierce fighting.

The Viet Cong overran the district police headquarters on the outskirts of Duc Hoa but were stopped short of the military headquarters by a company of Vietnamese Rangers.

The Viet Cong assault was preceded by heavy shellfire, a Defense Ministry spokesman reported.

Mental Examination For Slayer of Girl

WAUSAU (AP) — A 60-day mental examination has been ordered for Terry Caspersen, 21, charged in the slaying of a high school girl who was dragged from a bridge to a Wisconsin River island and stabbed 50 times.

The examination, at Central State Hospital at Waupun, was ordered Tuesday by Circuit Judge Gerald Boileau to determine whether Caspersen is capable of standing trial on first degree murder charges. The mental test was asked by the defense.

He's charged in the death of Eleanor Kaatz, 18, on May 11.

Many Gifts Put on Grave Of Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A baby's shoe, a woman's glove, a religious medal, a lone flower have been placed on the hillside grave.

They rest on the sun-seared grass, along with the berets and caps of fighting men—some of the personal remembrance from the multitude which daily moves slowly and silently past the place where John F. Kennedy is buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

Tribute Removed

The caps—the deep green beret of the Army Special Forces, the standard Army green of the conventional forces, the forest green of the Marines and the Air Force blue—remain.

But each morning the tributes of the visitors are removed, packed away and sent once a week to the White House. From there they are made available to Mrs. Kennedy, who decides what should be done with them. Some presumably are set aside for the time when a eulogy memorial is built.

An estimated three million persons have visited the grave since the assassination. Only a comparative few drop mementos on the grave, but these now total hundreds or thousands.

Some of the tribute objects obviously are brought with the

States Depend on Economy Gains To Help Growing Revenue Needs

BY PAUL A. DRISCOLL

CHICAGO (AP)—State budgets are continuing to grow but this year, at least, legislators are counting more on an expanding economy for increased revenue than they are on tax boosts. While governors of many states signed new tax laws this year — 22 legislatures were in session — the hopes were that business activity, fed partly by the federal tax cut, would surge upward for the fourth consecutive year.

Automatic Revenue Boost

There is no telling at this time precisely what impact the tax cut will have, but a year ago the Treasury Department estimated that a $10-billion federal reduction would spur investment, consumer spending and employment to a point where state and local governments would reap close to $3 billion extra in taxes.

In 20 states, according to a study by Leon Rothenberg, research director for the Federation of Tax Administrators, income tax receipts will rise automatically as a result of the federal tax cut. In these states, individuals and corporations are allowed deductions on their state income taxes based on their amount of federal income taxes. Thus, lower federal taxes mean lower deductions and higher payments to the states.

Some Tax Increases

An Associated Press survey shows several states raised their income tax withholding rate to bring them in line with this windfall. Included were Massachusetts, Oregon, Alabama and Minnesota, according to information compiled by Commerce Clearing House, Inc., of Chicago, a publisher of topical business law reports.

However the added revenues are obtained, they apparently will be spent for present improvements and administration, not for past mistakes.

"Unlike some years in the past," Rothenberg said in his study, "there were few instances where taxes had to be increased because deficits had developed during the current budget period as a result of an excess of past commitments over available resources."

Education absorbs the largest portion of state budgets and where new taxes were imposed this year they were almost all ways for this purpose. However, Turkey today, and eight more dead were reported. The death toll attributed to the floods and lightning this week stands at 21, according to reports reaching Istanbul.

Goldwater Sure of Nomination Unless Delegates Switch

Associated Press Survey Shows He Has 19 More Than Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's delegate strength has soared to 674, according to an Associated Press survey. If he hangs on to that total, he will win the Republican presidential nomination with 19 votes to spare.

Fifty-six votes pledged Tuesday by Texas Republicans pushed the Arizona Senator over the top—the 655 mark needed to win the big prize at the Republican National Convention opening July 13 in San Francisco.

But after winning in Texas, Goldwater said the job is not done yet. He said he still needs more delegates because of the danger of slippage from among the delegates now on his list.

No Sign of Big Shift

Goldwater's Texas sweep had been expected, with none of the Lone Star delegates expressing a previous preference for Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, Goldwater's newest challenger.

Scranton has picked up 44 delegates since he started his campaign last Friday with 84 first-ballot votes in his pocket. But only one, in Pennsylvania, is known to have been a delegate who previously supported Goldwater.

Seventeen of Scranton's new votes have come from state conventions in Maryland and Con-

Backers Urge Goldwater Vote For Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of Sen. Goldwater's best political friends are urging him to vote for Senate passage of the revised civil rights bill.

Because he previously opposed limitation of debate and has voted against provisions to eliminate discrimination in employment and public accommodations, they argue that final support of the measure would not cost him the "substantial support in the South" he said Tuesday the Republican party must have to win in November.

Further, they contend that a "yea" vote on passage would take most of the steam out of the drive of party moderates behind Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton's effort to keep Goldwater from getting the GOP presidential nomination.

Goldwater has kept his intention well guarded that Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told a news conference he "wouldn't dare to make an assumption" on how his colleague would vote.

Rights Battle Believed to be Nearing Close

Southern Senators May Cut Down on Their Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators resumed the marathon civil rights battle today amid indications that the Southern fight on the measure is nearing an end.

In a 13-hour session Tuesday running until midnight, the Senate broke all records in the memory of Capitol Hill veterans by taking 34 roll-call votes, 33 of them to knock down amendments to the bill.

More of the same was in prospect today but leaders were cautiously confident that the Dixie contingent would offer only about 20 more amendments.

Speeches Probable Thursday

If this proves to be correct, they said, the Senate will not run so late tonight, and Thursday will be wholly devoted to a last round of speeches on the measure, mostly from its foes.

This would mean the final vote to pass the measure and send it back to the House in revised form would come on Friday, possibly early in the day.

The biggest final hurdle is Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., who already has offered 20 amendments unsuccessfully and told a reporter he may bring in 16 more.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., who has called up 23 amendments, said he might have a few more.

Signs of Dixie Split

There were clear signs of a split in Southern ranks on the strategy to be followed. Several said privately they saw no purpose in offering a wholesale number of amendments, many of them exceeding minor, only to have them swamped by overwhelming votes.

They said they planned to use their remaining time for speeches against the bill in the final passage debate.

All Southerners have retained at least a part of the hour allowed them under the cloture rule invoked a week ago today by the Senate to end the Dixie filibuster.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., the Southern leader, has proposed only two amendments to the bill and said he would have no more.

250 Flood Dead In West Pakistan

HYDERABAD, West Pakistan (AP) — Flood waters from a week of severe wind and rain the storms coursed through the Hyderabad region today. More than 250 were known dead, but tions so well guarded that Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen told a news conference he "wouldn't dare to make an assumption" on how his colleague would vote.

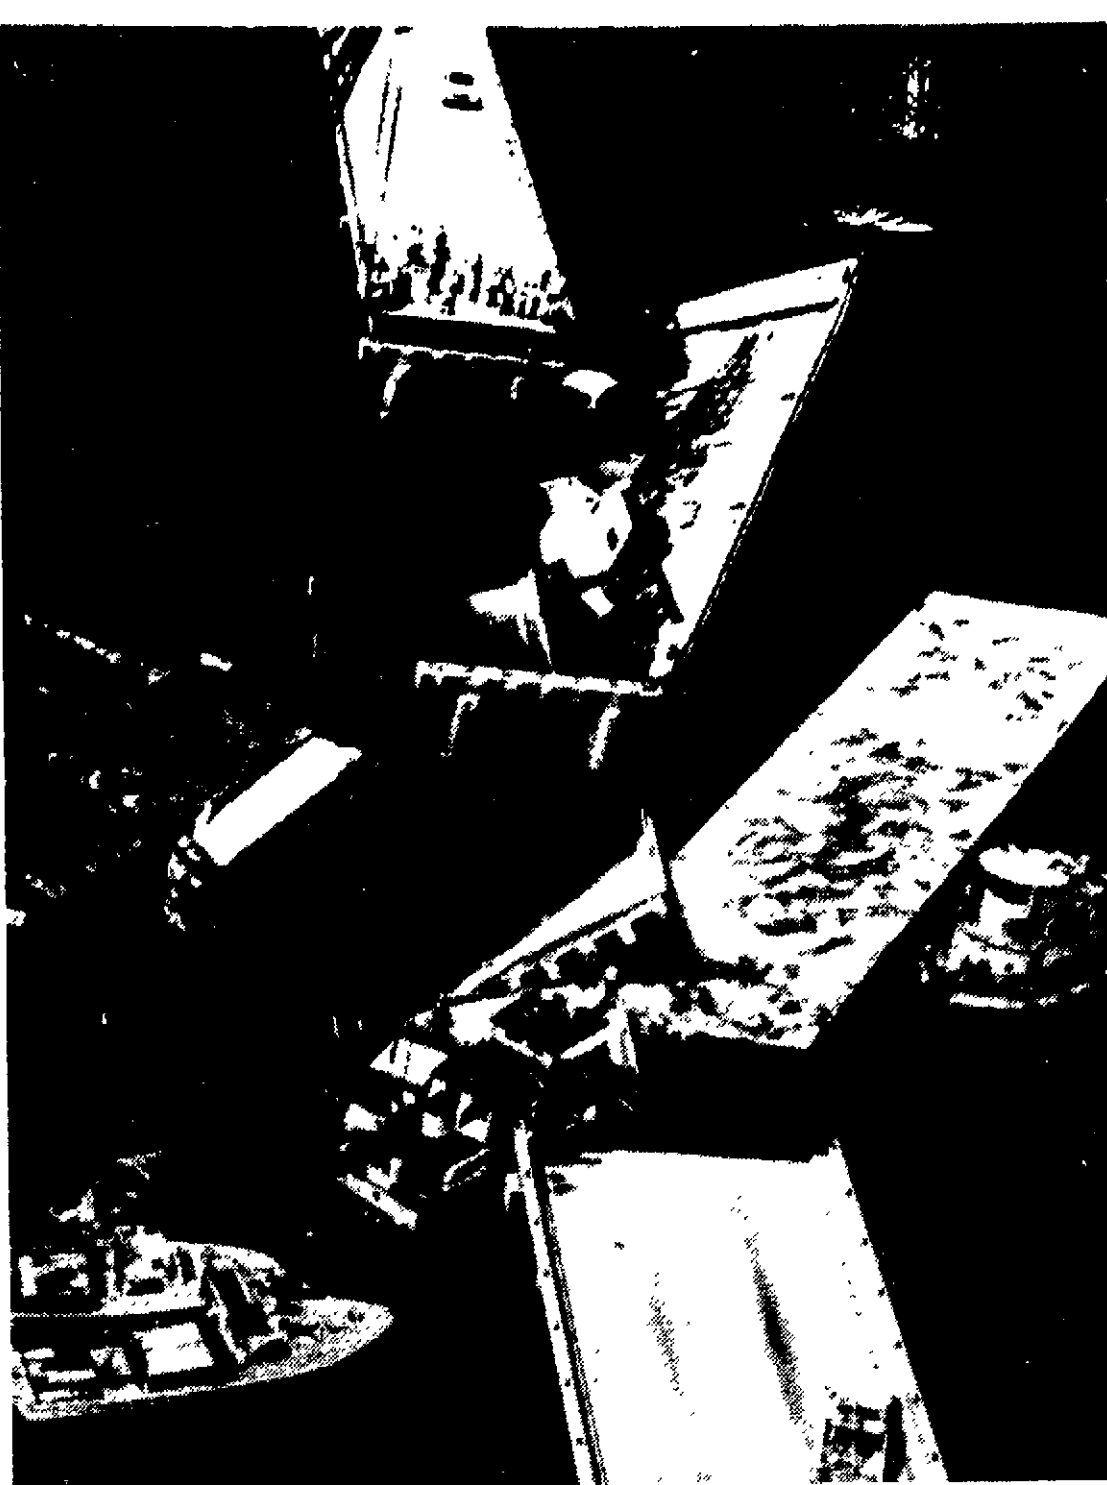

Thousands of homes were flattened and more than 60,000 cattle destroyed.

Police at Niigata Take 7,350 From Danger Zone

BY RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

NIIGATA, Japan (AP)—Battered and broken by one of the strongest Japanese earthquakes of modern times, Niigata was menaced today by fire and flood.

Police removed 7,350 persons, including 2,000 hospital patients, from the vicinity of petroleum tanks blazing along the waterfront of this big port on the northwest coast, the center of Japan's petroleum industry.

Workers tore down 300 flimsy houses in the path of the fire, but the flames inched toward a hydrogen tank 90 feet away.

Omaha District Hit Severely by Heavy Rainfall

OMAHA (AP) — A fierce storm, unleashing as much as six inches of rain on the already soggy western environs of Omaha, took at least one life and left four missing Tuesday night.

Hundreds fled their homes. A hastily activated Civil Defense command post organized an emergency force of boats. Gov. Frank Morrison ordered out the National Guard to assist in the hard-hit town of Millard.

Sources of the flood were creeks which normally flow innocuously through the valleys and lowlands of western Omaha and the suburban communities of Papillion Millard and Ralston.

Rural Pulaski Boy Dies in Accident

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a small boy, whose mother was killed in a highway crash last year, has raised Wisconsin's traffic toll for 1964 to 423, compared with 341 on this date a year ago.

William A. Ainsworth, 3, the son of George Ainsworth of rural Pulaski, was killed Tuesday when he ran from the high grass of a hay field onto a roadway in Shawano County and was struck by a car. The boy's mother died in a highway collision in January of 1963.

Julian Husmoen, 55, of rural Ettrick, was killed early today when a car struck the side of a bridge on Trempealeau County Trunk 1 about two miles south of Blair. Authorities said Husmoen was alone in the ve-

Police Shoot And Capture Rape Suspect

SOUTH PITTSBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Police shot and captured today a Negro sought in the death of a pregnant white housewife. He was taken by ambulance to Alabama's Kilby Prison in Montgomery.

Johnny D. Beecher, 32, trapped by hunger that brought him to this southeast Tennessee city from Alabama in search of food, was shot in the right leg by a South Pittsburg policeman.

Police Chief E. Dick Burrow said Beecher admitted raping and strangling Martha Jane Chisenhall, 21, a bride of seven months who was found dead Tuesday on Sand Mountain in northeast Alabama. She had been abducted shortly after Beecher escaped Monday from an Alabama work gang near her home.

After his capture, Beecher was taken to a South Pittsburg hospital under heavy guard. Burrow said his right leg was fractured.

Officers confirmed that he had been transferred by ambulance to Alabama, but first declined to say where.

"I'm not authorized to give out that information," an Alabama highway patrolman said. "We can't say until we know what is going to happen to the boy. They're a little afraid of mobs."

Later it was disclosed that he was en route to the maximum security prison at Kilby.

Ex-Envoy Convicted In Narcotics Case

NEW YORK (AP)—A former Mexican ambassador to Bolivia, an ex-employee of the Uruguay, an Foreign Ministry and a Frenchman have been convicted in a multimillion-dollar narcotics case.

A U.S. District Court jury Tuesday night found the three men guilty of possessing narcotics and conspiring to bring them into the United States.

Those convicted are Salvador Pardo Bolland, 64, the former diplomat; Juan Ariza, 64, formerly of Uruguay, and Rene Bruchon, 50, of Marseille.

Amendment Extended To State Proceedings

Protection Against Self-Incrimination Broadened by Supreme Court Decisions

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—In two Amendment's protection against tremendous decisions this week self-incrimination applied only the Supreme Court broadened to witnesses in federal proceedings protection of individuals, not to those in states. States, therefore, could suit against self-incrimination when themselves in this field.

On Monday the court reversed itself, cutting a new path, with a neat overlapping of the Fifth Amendment protection—that a witness can refuse to give evidence he fears might incriminate him—applies to both state and federal proceedings.

It said a witness who balks at incriminating himself in state proceedings can invoke the protection of the Fifth Amendment. Brennan said: such a person testify in a state court cannot be used to prosecute him in a federal court, and vice versa.

Bill of Rights
The Constitution's Bill of Rights adopted in 1791—including the Fifth Amendment—had been insisted upon by the states as protection for them and their citizens against the powerful central, federal government.

For more than 100 years the Supreme Court reasoned this Bill of Rights applied to the federal government only, not to the states, although the 14th Amendment had been added to the Constitution in 1868.

This amendment, adopted three years after the Civil War, was intended to protect citizens, particularly Negroes, from encroachment on their constitutional rights by the states.

States' Restriction
It said in part: "No state shall make or enforce a law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law."

In short, national citizenship was paramount to state citizenship. Eventually but slowly the court began to overlap the 14th Amendment with parts of the Bill of Rights to protect citizens from unconstitutional state actions. But as late as 1947 the court was ruling that the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination applied only to witnesses in federal proceedings, not to those in states.

On Monday the court reversed itself, cutting a new path, with a neat overlapping of the Fifth Amendment protection—that a witness can refuse to give evidence he fears might incriminate him—applies to both state and federal proceedings.

It said a witness who balks at incriminating himself in state proceedings can invoke the protection of the Fifth Amendment. Brennan said: such a person testify in a state court cannot be used to prosecute him in a federal court, and vice versa.

Legal Oddity
All this links up with something else which has been one of the oddities of the American legal system. This involves a man who might have committed both a state and federal offense.

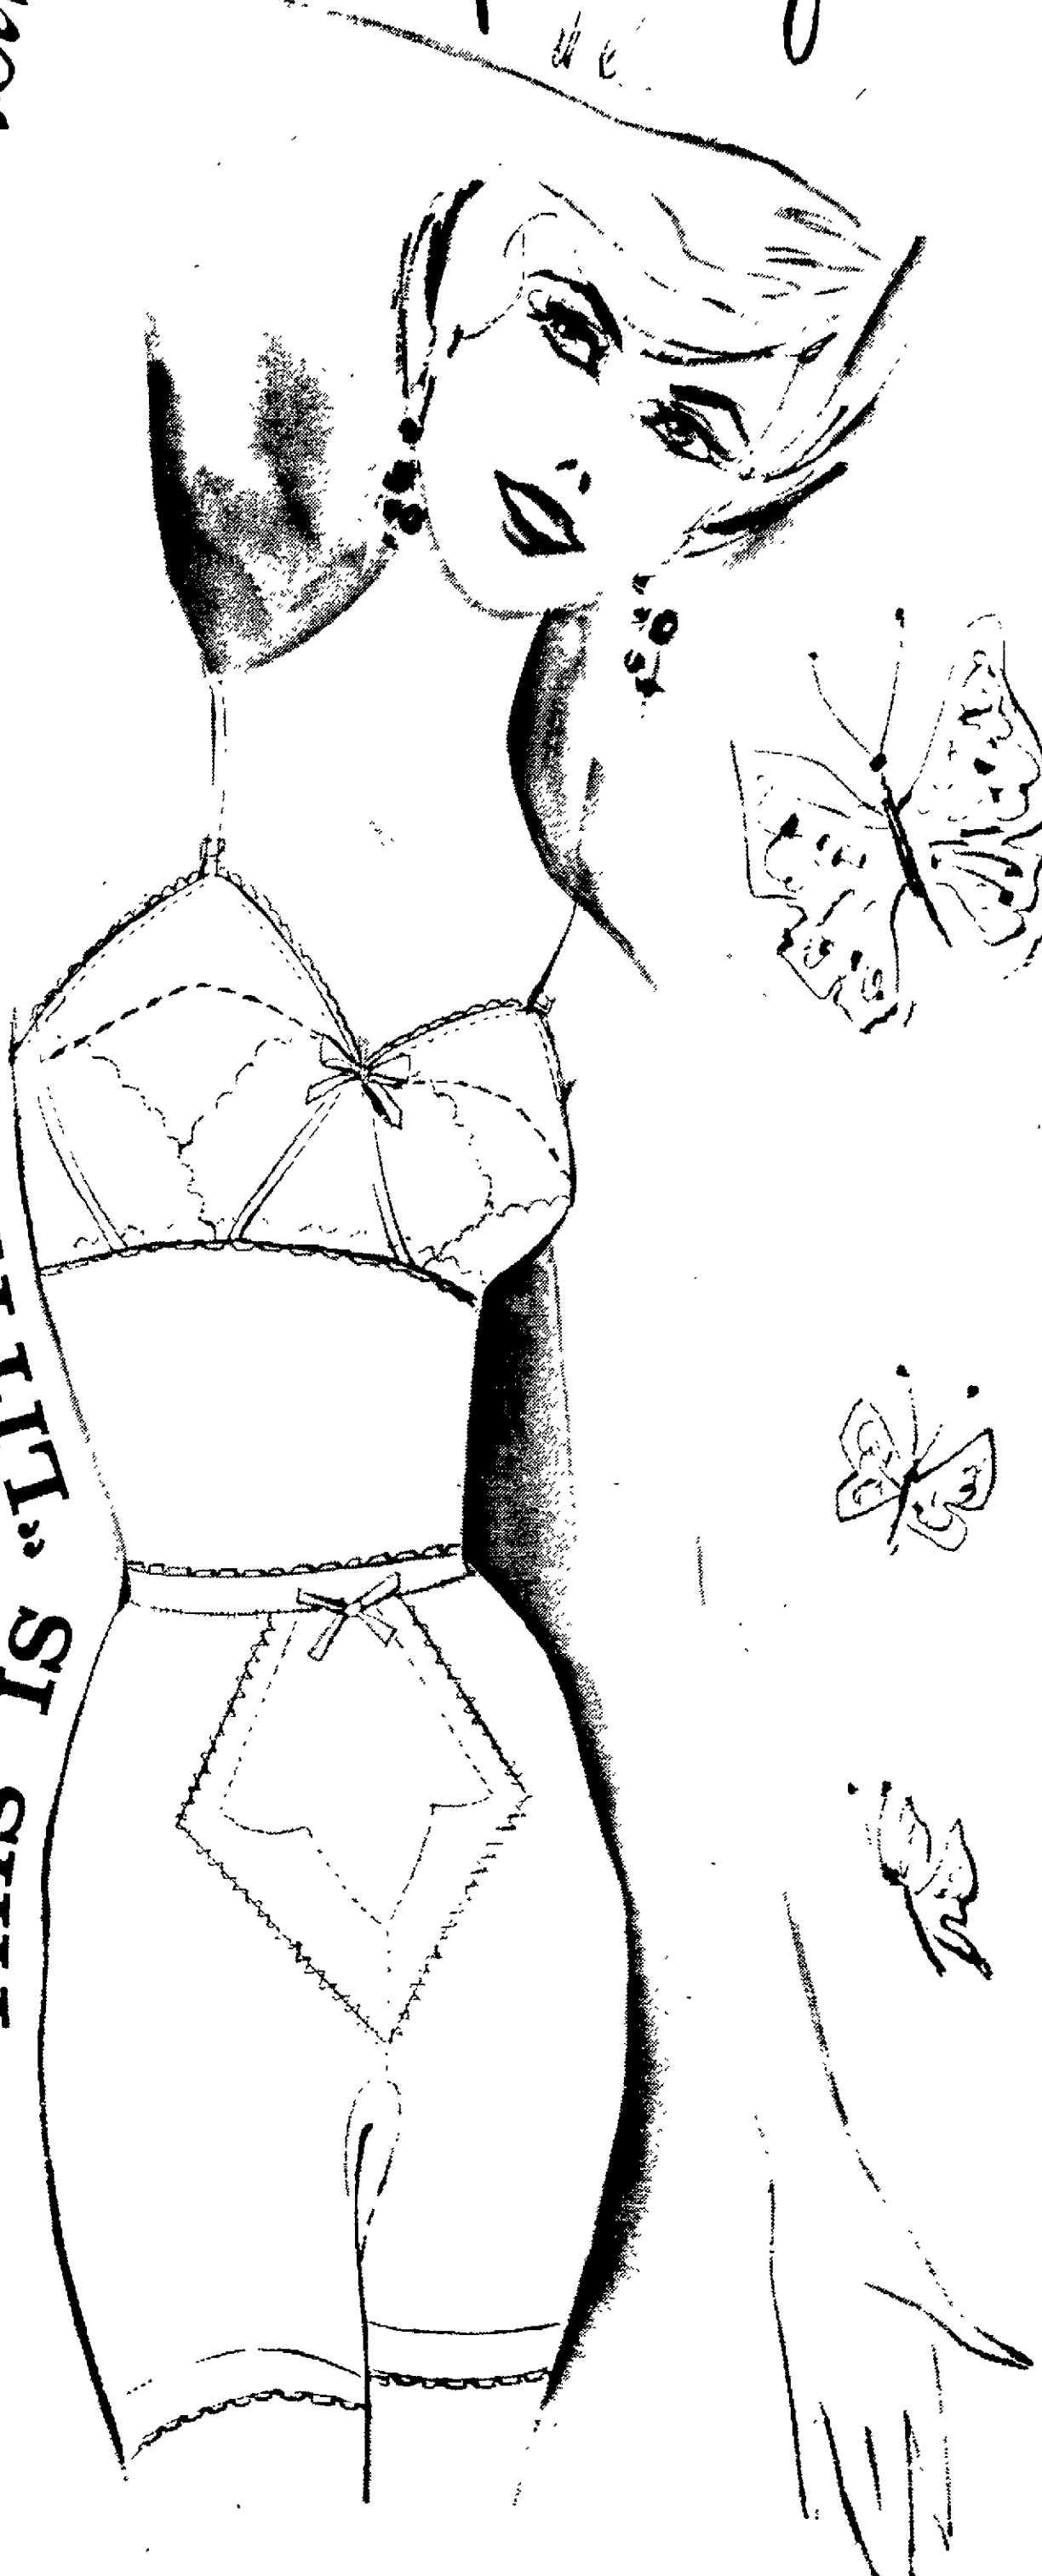

For some reason of its own a state, perhaps to nail some other offenders, could promise him immunity against prosecution in a state court if he testified. But the federal government, which had promised him nothing, could then use his state court testimony to prosecute him in a federal court.

As late as 1944 the Supreme Court ruled the federal government could do this. This week the court reversed this previous decision and laid down a flat rule for all such problems in the future.

Justice Arthur J. Goldberg wrote the opinion which said there is no justification for permitting a man to be prosecuted for giving testimony which was supposed to make him immune to prosecution.

FDA Proposes to Cancel Approval of 19 Troches

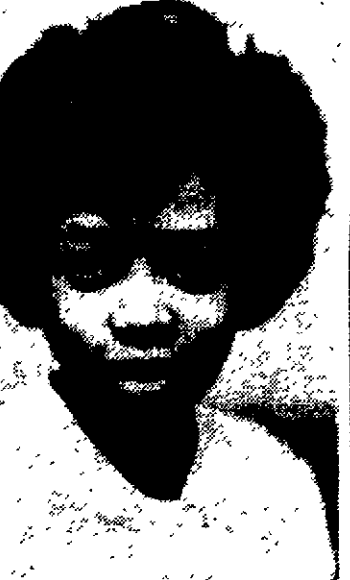

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration announced today it proposes to cancel certification of 19 types of throat lozenges or troches containing antibiotics, on the ground that evidence of efficacy is lacking. The effect would be to bar the products from sale in interstate commerce. The agency said interested persons have 90 days within which to furnish any information which, in their opinion, demonstrates substantial efficacy of the drugs or to submit written comments.

1964 Marking Pivotal Year In Integration

Many Southern Schools Graduate Negroes First Time

BY DON MCKEE
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Graduation exercises in some Southern high schools this year mark not only the educational pivot point for students but also a historic stage of desegregation. Three Negroes were graduated from formerly white schools in Birmingham, Ala., a significant first for what was the nation's big racial battleground only a year ago. Negroes for the first time were among the graduating classes in some Southern high schools. No accurate count can be obtained on over-all Negro and white graduation figures since some school systems keep no racial breakdown. But a survey showed the percentage of Negroes graduating from formerly all-white schools in the South was very small.

Classroom Problems
There have been no unusual problems in the classrooms and the Negro graduates often are among the top students scholastically. In Little Rock, Ark., where seven years ago federal troops enforced the initial desegregation,

Jacqueline Evans
tion, a Negro girl was graduated with highest honors and was named a presidential scholar. The girl, Jacquelyn Faye Evans, also was named to the National Honor Society. A Average She had an A-plus average in her final year at Little Rock Hall High, a predominantly white school. Asked if she had any trouble because of her race, she said: "Not very much trouble: in fact, none to speak of." Did she get a better education at the mostly white school? "I think so, but there is no way I could prove it," she said. In Tampa, Fla., Willie Strawter, 17, was the first Negro to graduate from a desegregated school—Thomas Jefferson High. He was the school's only Negro, transferring during his junior year.

Excellent Pupil
School officials said Strawter was an excellent pupil, with an A average. He has been accepted by Stetson University at De Land, Fla., for the fall term and plans to major in some branch of science. "As far as getting along with the other students, everything was fine," he said of his high school experience. "My only problem was with myself I had to adjust to the way they did things." An example of the Negro-white student ratio is provided in Arkansas where 20 Negroes are among 1,516 graduates this year Central High in Little Rock, where Negroes first attended under federal guard, has eight Negro graduates and 602 white graduates. In 1963, there were 10 Negro graduates in formerly white Arkansas schools.

Singing Made Legal In Pubs of Glasgow
GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Glasgow, where drinking long has been recognized as a serious business, is going to allow singing in pubs. City magistrates Tuesday approved 123 applications for pub music licenses, the first they have issued. Those who prefer their scotch in silence still can seek refuge in more than 1,000 non-music pubs.

30 Products

A spokesman said the proposal applies to some 30 products, made by something like 11 basic manufacturers and handled by about 25 distributors including the manufacturers. The proposal would affect only those troches containing antibiotics, for which certification was required before May 1, 1963, when regulations went into effect making all antibiotic products certifiable by FDA.

It would not apply to at least 200 other troches on the market which contain antibiotics which were not certifiable prior to that time.

The spokesman said the manner in which these 200 other troches will be dealt with has not been announced. FDA said the proposal would cover the following troches, most of which are sold without prescription:

No Prescription

make sure that the dignity and right to labor is not lost in the currents of change: that every American who wants to work, can work; that industry will not falter because it lacks the men it needs."

The chief executive said more than two million jobs a year are being taken over by machines. He said the rate may increase.

He cited figures indicating that the labor force in the 1960's is increasing 50 per cent faster than in the 1950's, further compounding the job problem.

Fewer Jobs for Unskilled

During the next 15 years there will be no increase in the demand for unskilled labor, although "demand for professional and technical people will go up 65 per cent, for clerical workers 45 per cent," he said.

"The challenge to leadership is clear," he said. "We must continue to expand our economy, creating new jobs. We must provide our workers with education and training to meet the demands of a dynamic industry."

Once again, Johnson said the goal of his administration is "to build a great society." He continued:

"That is the direction America is moving. That is the way we are going to keep moving. And no person, no group, no party is going to stand in the way of that forward march."

Johnson argued that his legislative program is "not the program of a single group or party, but a program for all Americans."

He said his administration has advanced proposals "to give every citizen an equal chance to hold a job, to vote, to educate his children, to enjoy all the blessings of liberty, whatever his color or race."

Then he went on to plug for other proposals — to combat poverty, to provide medical insurance for the aged, and to extend minimum wage and unemployment benefits.

"Let's roll up our sleeves," he said, "and get to work to pass these programs before Congress adjourns, for poverty and injustice will not wait."

ROK Journalists May Face Military Trial

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Six South Korean journalists arrested earlier this month during riotous antigovernment demonstrations have been referred to army prosecutors for possible military trial.

The martial law command also announced indictment of three student leaders of the demonstrations on insurrection charges. If convicted, they could get the death penalty.

The command said the news-men were being held on suspicion of giving aid to Communists, agitating insurrection, spreading malicious falsehoods about the government and their scotch in silence still can seek refuge in more than 1,000 non-music pubs. The six face maximum sentences of 15 years.

Turk Premier Meets Opposition on Cyprus

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Premier Ismet Inonu's trip to Washington for talks with President Johnson is threatened by opposition to the premier's handling of the Cyprus crisis.

Inonu is to meet with Johnson on June 22, two days ahead of similar talks on Cyprus which the President has scheduled with Greek Premier George Papandreou.

A request by Inonu for a vote of confidence from the National Assembly was met with mounting disfavor by his combined political opposition. The vote takes place Friday.

A group of pupils from a Richmond Va., school trooped slowly past. When they were gone, attendants found a five-dollar bill. Clipped to it was a note—contributed to the Kennedy Memorial Library at Cambridge.

There are, of course, the formal floral pieces. Most of them come from organizations, from church groups, from visiting foreign statesmen or diplomatic missions.

Military Mementos

The military mementos started on the day of Kennedy's burial. A sergeant of the Army Special Forces, standing by the grave when the funeral throng was gone, removed his beret and placed it on the mound.

The other services were quick to follow the sergeant's gesture and the caps of soldiers, sailors, Marines and Air Force men joined the green beret.

Winter storms and summer sun and rain weathered the caps then worked at the fabric. A few days before last Memorial Day, officials of the Military District of Washington decided they needed replacing. This was done.

Co-ops Enter Dairy Events

Clintonville and New London Locals Co-Sponsor Float

NEW LONDON — Clintonville and New London Pure Milk Products Co-op locals are entering a float in today's parade at New London as part of a June Dairy Month promotion.

Directors of the locals have decided to give special recognition to Miss Johanna Brown, one of the finalists from the area in the recent Alice in Dairyland contest.

Miss Brown and Mrs. Wisconsin will be guests of the cooperatives at a noon luncheon Sunday at the Marson Hotel, Clintonville. They will be escorted to the airport where they will take part in festivities at the dairy booth. Free milk will be dispensed to the public by the two locals.

Co-op directors in charge of the promotions include Fred Larson, Alfred Krause, Orville Handschke, Leon Thoma, Eugene Eder and Lawrence Therne, all of New London, and Wilbert Kielblock, Herb Dennison, Roy K. Kirchwer, Gilbert Roepke and William Pethke, all of Clintonville.

Central Boys League To Open Division Play

MARION — Two divisions of the Wisconsin Central Boys League are scheduled to begin play during the next seven days.

The Western division swings into action Thursday with Iola at Marion, Bear Creek at Weyauwega and Waupaca at Manawa.

Eastern division play will be Black Creek at Bonduel and Keshena at Seymour June 23. Shiocton draws a bye.

Beer Theft Reported To Appleton Police

Theft of 12 cases of beer from a beer truck owned by the Dougherty Sales Co., 724 S. Outagamie St., was reported to Appleton police Monday.

Police said a padlock on the rear doors of the truck had been broken. The truck had been parked in a lot near the beer distribution firm.

Blaze Largest in City for Quarter Century; Exact Cause Not Yet Known

SEYMOUR — Loss from the midday fire which razed the main warehouse of the Seymour Lumber Co. Tuesday is expected to total $225,000.

Owners Harold and Elmer Krahn said that despite the blaze they expected to be back in business today. Wholesale suppliers are expected to restock the firm's needs.

High on the loss list is about 140,000 board feet of prime stock lumber which was housed in the warehouse. It was the largest fire in the city for more than a quarter century.

Prevented Spreading

Although exact cause of the fire remains unknown, it was believed to have started in the sawing room which was located along the south wall of the warehouse. Smoke was spotted in this area and doors on the east end were closed. The action apparently was responsible for preventing the fire to sweep through the main office and its supply of house paints.

In addition to the lumber, hardwood flooring, windows, doors, major appliances and milking equipment were destroyed by the flames. Offices in the newly remodeled portion were destroyed by the fire, smoke and water. The main office, although it will be used, is heavily waterlogged.

The Seymour firm employs about 35 persons. The Krahn brothers have operated the Seymour Lumber Co. for the past eight years. However, the site has been occupied by a lumber business for almost 50 years. The warehouse which burned was constructed in the 1890s and operated as a foundry until it burned out in 1908.

Tuesday's fire was the largest in the city since 1958 when flames destroyed the Seymour Woodware Co. It was rebuilt and continues to operate.

Heat from the fire was intense enough to warp doors on the Outagamie County Highway Department garage located across the street. Utility wires had to be cut. Phone service was restored by late afternoon.

Employees were busy carrying out materials and equipment during the early stages of the fire. The railroad box cars parked in the yard were pushed away from the immediate fire scene by a group of men from the firm. Others were loading new lumber from the company stocks into trucks for morning delivery.

Stock was being shifted Tuesday afternoon to make room for new lumber. Coal located in a shed just south of the main warehouse escaped the flames which licked away at the light-weight shed walls and roof.

A bulldozer was employed late Tuesday afternoon to clear some of the debris and push it away from the office section. Remaining walls of the warehouse were knocked down Tuesday evening. Firemen kept an all night watch at the scene to keep the fire confined to the warehouse.

Manawa Man Injured In Two-Car Accident

One man was injured in a two-truck accident on State 54 near Seymour Monday afternoon. Damage to both trucks totaled more than $3,000, Outagamie County Police said.

Injured was Fred Pruess, 22, Manawa, driver of a truck which struck the rear of a truck being driven by Thomas Flanagan, 37, Bonduel. Both trucks were going east on 54 when the accident occurred. Pruess had back and shoulder injuries, police said.

Utility to Get Refund

Clintonville Expects $78,000 Payment From Power Firm

CLINTONVILLE — The Clintonville Water and Electric utility expects a refund of about $78,000 (including interest) from Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co.

The refund is the result of a decision by the Federal Power Commission (FPC), which applied anti-discrimination provisions of the federal act to reject a rate increase to the city for its electric rate which was put into effect in August, 1962.

Although rates to the city were increased, the utility never passed the rate increase on to its customers.

Clintonville was one of nine municipal utility customers affected by the decision.

15 Boys and Girls From Christus Parish Attending Bible Camp

CLINTONVILLE—Fifty-two youths from Christus Lutheran Church will attend Bible camp this summer with 15 boys and girls camping this week at Mission Lake, route 1, Hatley. The camp is under the direction of the Rev. Harold Naig, Iola.

Those attending the Mission Lake camp this week are Jean Obrecht, Barbara Keller, Jane Fexter, LaVonne Krueger, Sigrid Larson, Cheryl Sannes, Kathy Hidde, Patsy Heiman, Karen Erickson, Jeron Dieck, James Maue, David Wisneske, Paul Hoffman, William Knope and Robert List. Sandra Thompson and Sally Smith will attend camp June 21-27.

$225 Damages Result From Two-Car Accident

WAUPACA — Damages of over $225 were caused at 5:45 p.m., Sunday in a two-car mishap, one mile north of Scandinavia on State 49.

William L. Larson, 20, Iola, struck a slow-moving vehicle driven by Thomas R. Grenlie, 18, route 1, Scandinavia. Police said. Both cars were traveling west at the time of the accident.

Delay Action on New Chilton Well

Council Wants Advice of State Examiners on Limestone Problem

CHILTON — Action on development of the new city well was delayed Tuesday by the city council pending arrival of State Board of Health inspectors here June 24.

Vincent Reinkober, utilities commissioner, told the council limestone continues to plague drillers at the well located 100 feet southeast of the Pennsylvania and E. Main Street pumping station.

A new deposit of limestone was discovered at the 165-foot level by the Mileage Pump and Well Co., the firm which is attempting to develop the well.

Limestone Costs

The limestone already has cost the city $2,261 above the bid of $3,891.

Drillers have suggested the installation of a stainless steel screen from 107 feet to the 137-foot level in an effort to filter out the powder-like material. This would cost an additional $3,642.

The screen would be surrounded by gravel to give an additional filtering effect.

Filter

To sink the screen the drillers propose to lower an eight-inch casing inside the 12-inch casing to a depth of 107 feet. The 12-inch casing would then be pulled out and the space between the eight and 18-inch casing would be filled with gravel for the filtering.

A specimen of the decomposed limestone has been sent to Madison for analysis and for recommendations as to whether the troublesome material can be eliminated by a filter.

Mosquitos Irk Council Members In New London

NEW LONDON — Ineffectiveness of an insecticide used for mosquito control was given Monday night, as a possible cause of the large number of the insects this year.

Raymond Pelishek, director of public works told the city council he had heard several communities were using the same chemicals and had found them ineffective against mosquitoes.

Another cause, he said, might be unfavorable weather for fogging mosquitoes. High winds cause the fog to be swept away instead of staying close to the ground.

Several members of the council asked about the problem at Monday night's committee meeting of the council.

Nine Seniors Listed on Bonduel Honor Roll

BONDUEL — Nine Bonduel High School seniors have received recognition on the fourth quarter honor roll.

Listed for special honors were Martha Swanson and Suzanne Winkler. Recognized on the regular honor roll were graduates Rodney Busch, Barbara Tuma, Jean Zernicke, Leonie Drage, Jack Heller, David Krause, Carol Polzin and Shirley Short.

Sophomores Edward Busch, Mary Krause and Kathryn Zernicke also were listed on the special honors list.

Project to Get Underway In Few Days

WAUPACA—City-owned Elm trees inflicted with Dutch Elm disease will start coming down within a few days as the result of Tuesday night's council meeting when a contract was awarded to Red's Tree Service to conduct the work.

The contract for the tree trimming and cutting was awarded Red's Tree Service on a recommendation from the board of public works. The winning bidder had submitted a price of $3,392, second lowest. Low bid was $1,191, but the public works committee decided the low bid firm did not have proper insurance.

Everett Beach, owner of Red's Tree Service, said work would start within a few days. Five men will be doing the trimming and cutting, expected to be completed in about two months. There will be 243 city-owned trees trimmed and 25 removed. The Public Service Corporation is removing five trees which have Dutch Elm Disease.

Inspections Set

After the trees are cut down the stumps will be treated by city workers. While the project is in progress, Otto Keil, city building inspector will conduct periodic inspections.

Bids for sewer and water main projects in the city were also presented at the council meeting. The successful bidder was the P and B excavating Co., Appleton, with a base bid of $20,947. There were four firms submitting bids. The work also will include a new Harding Street lift station on the city's sewer system to provide service for an area south of Royal-Drag, Jack Heller, Davidson Street and east of Churchill Street.

An alternate in the bids for a steel shell lift station over a concrete shell was left open until further investigation could be made.

Borrow Money

Money to finance the improvement projects will be borrowed locally and will not be borrowed until the exact amount needed is known.

A recommendation that plans for a 50 by 50 foot storage building be started was delayed until councilmen could make an inspection of city property and determine if such a building is needed. The building if built will be near the present city

Clintonville to Get Historical Marker

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—An official marker to commemorate the birthplace of Wisconsin Central Airlines, now known as North Central Airlines, will be installed at the Clintonville Municipal Airport by the State Historical Society's historical marker division.

The marker is one of five planned to memorialize aviation sites of historical significance within the state, officials said.

The original air carrier was founded by the Four Wheel Drive Corp. in 1944. The company had acquired its own first aircraft five years earlier, and finding an increasing demand for public air transportation service, filed an application to provide daily scheduled service for passengers, mail, express and cargo.

The airline has expanded throughout Wisconsin and the north central area of the country in the two succeeding decades.

Chilton Planning Attempt at Classifying City Ordinances

Job Would Cost Near $3,000, Might Take Up to 12 Months

CHILTON — An attempt will be made to simplify present methods of classifying city ordinances.

Tuesday night the Chilton city council voted to investigate the possibilities of a plan to update the ordinance structure.

On the recommendations of the public affairs committee, bids will be asked for the work which has been estimated to cost between $2,500 and $3,000.

At the present time, ordinances are kept in chronological order rather than being classified according to content. City Atty. William Engler Jr. told the council the process might take a year to complete.

Money Reinvested

In other reports, the finance committee said $105,000 borrowed for the rejuvenation of the sewage plant had been reinvested in treasury notes.

A total of $55,000 was invested at an interest rate of 3.42 per cent and is payable in August.

Two-Week Bible School Planned in Stockbridge To Clintonville Rotary

STOCKBRIDGE—Two weeks of vacation Bible school will begin at the Methodist Church here June 22.

Studies this summer will be on the life of Jesus. Sessions will be held Monday through Friday from 9 to 11 a.m. Transportation will be provided if needed.

Thirty-seven children have registered for classes which will be taught by Mrs. Joseph Schepanski, dean of the school; Kate Pottle, pre-school; Mrs. Charles Parsons, primary; Nancy Peik, juniors, and the Rev. Douglass McKee, junior high.

Nine Students Listed on Six-Week's Honor Roll At Stockbridge High

STOCKBRIDGE — Nine students at the high school have been listed on the "A" honor roll for the final six week period.

In order to make the "A" honor roll a student must have received a grade point no lower than 3.5 with 4 being a perfect score.

Seniors on the honor roll are Gary Daun, Leah Schepanski, Kathleen Schomisch and Judith Price.

Two juniors, Thomas Schoen and Glenn Schumacher, were listed.

Mary Hoerth was the lone sophomore.

William Ludwig and Dianna Theil were the only freshmen listed.

Saddle-Wear Riders Head West After Stop in Appleton

BY ROY F. VALITCHKA II Post-Crescent Regional Editor

Some 62 saddle-weary youths and adult advisors swayed into Appleton western style Tuesday night, and it hasn't yet been determined who is enjoying the 300 mile jaunt more, the horses or their riders.

Wisconsin Teens on Parade moved into Pierce Park and the Legion Club grounds on the fourth day of a trip destined to take them to Rhinelander and Fort Wilderness by June 23.

The ride, sponsored by Wisconsin Youth for Christ and Fort Wilderness Camp (aimed at developing in youth an allegiance for Christ in an outdoor camping experience) sports Western stage coach and buffalo burgers.

Buffalo burgers, advisors say, are hoped to pay costs of the trip.

Spirit, Enthusiasm

The riders so far have stopped overnight at Menomonee Falls, starting point, West Bend, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh. From Appleton the riders went today to New London where they participated in a parade and talent show.

Aim of the ride is to teach teen-agers of all faiths to live daily for Christ and give them an outlet for spirit and enthusiasm.

Riding a Cyclone Named Bradford

Bradford and me, by the time you read this, will have become well acquainted.

Bradford, he's my horse—a paint by breed and a supposedly gentle creature as long as he's near his new found love, a palamino named Topper.

Riders on the Wisconsin Teens on Parade circuit, covering 300 miles on horseback from Menomonee Falls to Rhinelander and Fort Wilderness, say they love to have reporters along the route. One Milwaukee Sentinel scribe who hadn't ridden horse in 18 years rode 28 miles the other day. He hasn't been heard from since he got off the horse.

I'm told Bradford is an easy riding animal with a gentle disposition—up to a point. He fell in love with Topper about the first day on the trail and just can't hoof it 'til the golden beauty is by his side. Don't get any ideas, Bradford and Topper both are males Bradford, when away from Topper, is a cyclone.

As I said, Bradford and me will have become well acquainted. And, I fear, I shall have left the better part of me somewhere in a western style saddle.

among the adults and youths. The daily stints on the road are divided into 10-mile or three-way shifts. Boys and girls who do not ride all day shift off riding horse to ride in a bus or one of the many other vehicles carrying food, shelter and clothing.

So far youths representing eight denominations have been on the ride. All work and organization en route is done by the youths — from cooking, miles on horseback from Menomonee Falls to Rhinelander and Fort Wilderness, say they love to have reporters along the route.

Motorists Courteous

John Gillespie, Appleton, one of the advisors with the ride, said the trip has been a success thus far. The riders have passed along U. S. 41 and U. S. 45 en route. Motorists, Gillespie said, have been extremely courteous.

Only two incidents have marred the trip. Neither serious and one quite funny. Mary Borg of Appleton now knows what a water point looks like to a water loving horse.

When the riders stopped to rest and refresh their horses, Miss Borg rode hers to the water point. The horse, instead of taking a long cool 'slurp,' knelt

Tigers Win First Conference Game; Post 1-2 Record

CHILTON — The Tiger baseball team won its first Eastern Wisconsin Conference game Monday night in downing the Brillion Lions 8-6, in a game at Brillion.

Jim Daun, sophomore hurler for the Tigers, fanned 15 Lions while walking only five Daun picked up the win and Gary Behnke took the loss for the Lions.

Chilton's big inning was the fourth when it put across four runs. The rally started when Howie Schneider was safe on an error.

Three consecutive singles by Don McHugh, Scott Wilson and Gary Bruckner scored three runs, with an error permitting Bruckner to score.

Both teams are now 1-2 in league play Thursday night, both play at home. The Tigers will be host to Elkhart Lake and the Lions will play Valders.

New Ticketing Policy Likely

Outagamie Police May Cite Parked Cars in Winnebago

Outagamie County traffic police may begin ticketing cars parked illegally on the roadway in Winnebago County along the Winnebago - Outagamie county line road near a teen-age bar.

Parking cars on state or county roads with the tires on concrete is a violation of state traffic ordinances.

Outagamie County Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath has informed traffic authorities that such tickets may be issued, but the cases must be handled in Winnebago County traffic courts.

Ponath said the tickets should be issued by county sheriff deputies rather than county traffic police.

Tickets Issued
All county police working in the Outagamie County traffic department are authorized sheriff's deputies and may make such arrests.

Ponath was asked for a legal opinion after county police indicated that illegal parkers on the Winnebago County side of the Outagamie County Trunk BB were not being ticketed by Winnebago police who were called to the scene by the Outagamie County traffic police.

Outagamie patrolmen have been issuing "several dozen" tickets to illegally parked cars on the Outagamie County side of the road. The parkers, who have been made to appear in court, have been paying fines of $25 each.

Outagamie County police reported last week they were told by a Winnebago policeman at the beer bar that "it did no good" to distribute the parking tickets, because the ticket holders never appeared in court.

Capt. Ronald Decker of the Outagamie County Traffic patrol said Monday he did not know yet if the Outagamie County traffic patrol was ready to issue tickets on the Winnebago side of the road. Decker said he had not requested the legal opinion and "it must have been someone else in my department."

Illinois Police Officer Posts Bond on Charge Of Erratic Driving

A Highland Park, Ill., police lieutenant Tuesday posted bond of $200 at the Outagamie County jail where he was held overnight after his arrest by county police who charged him with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

William H. True, 55, Highland Park, refused to take a breathalyzer test after his arrest about 5:15 p.m. on U.S. 45 in the Town of Greenville.

A trial date has not been set, and True was allowed to leave the county after he posted his bond at 1:35 a.m. today.

Set Registration for Summer Play Program

CLINTONVILLE — Registration for the Clintonville summer recreation program is scheduled to be held at Walter A. Olen Park from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

Children of age 7 through 14 are eligible for the recreation program. A 50 cent fee is being charged for those taking the WIAA insurance.

Playground hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Morning baseball games for boys have been planned to eliminate most conflicts with the swimming lessons.

The program will include a variety of recreational activities for all age groups and abilities. Handicraft, tennis, miniature golf, hiking, shuffleboard, ping-pong and tournaments of various kinds are scheduled.

Any boy or girl, ages 12-18, who is interested in entering the Wisconsin Recreation Association's Junior Tennis tournament should contact Robert McMahon, playground director, at the park program building on Monday.

Barn in New London Area Razed by Fire

NEW LONDON—Fire destroyed a barn at the Roy Genke farm, route 3, late Tuesday afternoon.

Former Kaukauna Man Receives Promotion in Milwaukee Gas Firm

A former Kaukauna man has been promoted to purchasing agent for Milwaukee Gas Light Company, effective July 1, it was announced Monday by Howard J. Tobin, company president.

He is Francis P. Cooney, who succeeds Arnold E. Altenhofen. Altenhofen is retiring after 51 years of service with the utility. Cooney presently is manager of stores.

He joined Winnebago Natural Gas Corporation at Kaukauna in 1957 as a staff construction engineer. When Winnebago was purchased by Milwaukee Gas Light Company in 1960, he became a construction engineer for Milwaukee Gas Light's district operations. In 1963 he was promoted to manager of stores.

Cooney is a native of Plymouth, Wisconsin, where he attended elementary and high schools. He attended Marquette University School of Engineering prior to serving with the Air Force during World War II.

Following service he worked for 10 years with engineering consulting firms in various parts of the country.

He is married and has four sons and a daughter. He lives in Port Washington.

The fire was believed to have been caused by a tractor in the barn. A brother of Mrs. Genke was leaving the barn after unloading fresh hay when he noticed a fire under the tractor. He called to his sister to bring water. Mrs. Genke said they were filling pails with water when they heard a loud explosion and the barn burst into flames.

Mrs. Genke said her brother ran out the other side of the barn with his clothes burning, but he wasn't injured. She said they had time to let calves out of the barn. All cattle were in the field.

Call at 4:30 p.m.
The call was received by the New London fire department about 4:30 p.m. By 5:30 p.m., the barn was almost burned to the ground.

Firemen managed to save the milkhouse and a small shed near the barn.

Genke was working at the time of the fire. The barn was insured. Mrs. Genke said about one-half of the first crop of hay was in the barn.

Rec Department Will Offer Two Special Programs

KAUKAUNA — Registration is underway at the recreation department office for two special programs to be provided under the direction of Mary Ball and Mary Schwin, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

A "tot-time" program for youngsters from four through six years of age will get underway June 23 with special games, crafts and stories designed for these age groups to be offered. Sessions will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. Tuesdays at Riverside Park for northside youngsters and the same time at LaFollette Park on Wednesday for southside children.

This is in addition to regular playground events as many of these are designed for older children. Playground leaders may also be contacted for reservations.

A program for exceptional children will be offered from 1 to 3 p.m. on Wednesdays at LaFollette Park. This is open to any handicapped or retarded child and an effort will be made to schedule appropriate activities to add variety to their summer routine.

down in the water dumping his rider.

Practiced Charity

At Oshkosh the ensemble found a far from warm reception at the fair grounds. It was the only place on the route the group had to pay to stay ($100) and had no water or electricity.

Gillespie said the youths had a real chance to practice Christian charity by cleaning the grounds to condition better than when they arrived.

At each stop the group opens griddles and starts frying genuine buffalo burgers. If 5,000 of them are sold, the cost of the trip will nearly be paid.

Advisors estimate cost of the trip at $4,500 and expect to come out short by $1,500.

Besides buffalo burgers there is cotton candy and other carnival type refreshment.

Complete With Stage

After the supper hour, open to the public, youths in the ride put on the talent show, from folk singing to hillbilly antics, amusing a crowd of young and old alike.

Appleton had some 250 persons at a rollicking country jubilee with the youths in high spirits. Talent ranges from high school play parts and duets to on-the-spot creations practiced a short time between currying a horse and trying the burgers.

And, don't be surprised if you see a stage coach rattle off into the sunset pulled by four chestnut horses.

Winneconne Youth Cited With 10 Counts Of Theft, Burglary

OSHKOSH — Bond totaling $1,500 was set for further proceedings Friday for John Ruch, 20, Winneconne, charged in 10 counts of theft and one of burglary.

Ruch is accused of taking money from soft drink and candy machines from nine places in Oshkosh and one in Winnebago County. Bond was set at $500 on those charges.

Bond was set at $1,000 on a charge of breaking and entering the Fisk Mill on June 5. Ruch asked for a preliminary hearing on that charge.

Two juvenile companions, 15 and 17, charged to have been involved with Ruch in the first 10 counts, have been referred to juvenile court.

The thefts from the soft drink machines all took place between 1 and 5 a.m. Monday.

New London Pilots Plan Annual 'Fly-In'

NEW LONDON — Plans for the annual "Fly-in" will be made tonight at a meeting of New London Aviation Pilots Club at the airport.

Members have been asked to bring tools to the field at 6 p.m. for a work bee before the meeting.

New London Swim Instructions Delayed

NEW LONDON — Swimming lessons, which were to begin Monday have been delayed due to the cold weather, according to John Raess, pool director at Hatten Memorial Park.

Raess said that lessons will not be given until the weather is warmer.

sheds. An inspection tour of all city-owned utilities and buildings will be conducted next Tuesday night.

Two ordinance changes were approved and one tabled. The two approved ordinances will allow city police to make arrests on city warrants for operating a car after a drivers license has been revoked, carrying malt beverages in a vehicle with minors and disorderly conduct.

City Warrants

At present, when police make arrests on any of these charges, they are made on state warrants and the money collected in fines is turned over to the state. After the new ordinances become effective, any fine money collected will be retained by the city.

The ordinance change that was tabled until further investigation was made was on calling it unlawful to throw any refuse in rivers, streams, or lakes within the city or place anything on the ice in the winter time. It was delayed until it can be defined whether fishing shanties on the lakes in the winter will be classed as unlawful. All the ordinances acted on and discussed are in compliance with state statutes and were prepared by the city attorney on the recommendations of Police Chief Fred Rasmussen.

A problem of odor from the sewage treatment plant also was discussed, and Nels Rasmussen, street and water commissioner, said the plant is being operated as odor free as possible.

Hidden in the Woods Are 7,000 Soldiers Studying the Art of War

BY CHARLES HOUSE

CAMP MCCOY—We are dusty and somewhat begrimed from the rigors of living in the woods and in the wake of road dust from the big army vehicles which crowd our bivouac area but we are functioning with brisk, almost silent efficiency. Somewhere in the woods about me, within 10 square miles of hardwood forest are 7,000 men and about 1,500 vehicles. But now as I look out of my tent and peer in every direction through the woods, I can see only three men and a few vehicles which are parked and camouflaged nearby.

4 Days of Bivouac

In hundreds of small "open air classrooms," somewhere, about me the guardsmen are studying the arts of war under the direction of officers and non-commissioned officers. Yet, here in my tent or outside of it, I hear only a song sparrow warbling from a nearby hazel bush and the rustling of the wind-touched leaves of the thousands of scrub oak trees which predominate in this sandy, acid soil.

Within the woods about me, too, the guardsmen have pitched several thousand tents. Each guardsman carries in his own pack a half-tent. Buttoned to the half of his comrades, the two halves become a single home for these four days of bivouac. Like me, they can see only a few of their comrades, for all troops are dispersed and camouflaged. The men see only their immediate neighbors except when they form occasional necessary formations or go to a "classroom" for instructions and practical experience.

Virtually Alone
It is difficult to believe that somewhere about me there are 92 company-sized units, some of them staffed by as many as 90 men, that they are here with great guns and other paraphernalia of war — and to be able to conclude from appearances and sounds that I am virtually alone here.

A short walk through the woods will bring me to the field kitchen of Company B, 127th Infantry, which is supervised by Sgt. Sylvester Dobinski of Two Rivers. He is such a one as can be persuaded to dole out a cup of coffee to the casual visitor. Sgt. Dobinski's kitchen, built smack-dab in the woods, is one of some 90 such field mess units. His staff as one must presume of the others, can serve fine food and piping hot. Presently, Sgt. Dobrowski is feeding 135 men including all of C Company which is from Neenah-Menasha. Neenah's mess steward, just a diner on this bivouac, is Robert Sauer, of Neenah.

Like the other kitchens, Dobrowski's is mobile. The food is cooked in the mess tent on transportable stoves and literally carried to the troops he feeds who are scattered somewhere in the environs.

Confidential Calls

Although I hear no unusual noises such as can be expected from 7,000 encamped men of the Wisconsin National Guard, I do occasionally hear a radio call coming in over the mounted radio on a nearby jeep.

The radio call signals are of two words, each requiring the attention of specific units. Though they are confidential call signals, I will approximate a few here.

Exact January calling Exact Rhumba. Exact Pine calling Exact Hindu. And so on. The various units, though spread throughout the woods, are in contact with each other at a moment's notice.

The floor of the woods is covered with dry leaves from last year's oaks and it is difficult to walk without rustling up dry, penetrating sounds. Soon, though wide ranging guardsmen will discover that the wild strawberries are ripe and delicious and they will forage through the woods for them if they can find odd moments for batallion such a hunt.

There are deer in these woods too, as their many trails proclaim but we have undoubtedly chased them to distant parts of this huge reservation.

Military Sounds
But now the sounds are less plosives. A 1st-Lt Richard Webber, Menasha, has pulled into a copse of trees and is being unloaded for distribution to the various platoon, and Bernard Hinc, Appleton, of the 1st batallion platoon.

It comes to us because we here, are the supply section of a day headquarters company and supply the other components of the Box after box is being unloaded five tons of practice ammunition for rifles and machine guns; artillery simulators; smoke signal flares, booby trap blasting devices though harmless, to surprise the unwary walker. The unloading of the explosives is being supervised by 1st-Lt Richard Webber, Menasha, and conducted by Sp-4 Vice President Richard M. Nixon, combined on and sent telegrams to 2,000 other GOP leaders.

Rockefeller said he had telephoned Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon had stated and Rockefeller said, "If that's what Mr. Nixon said, I won't deny it."

He confirmed indirectly that he got no commitment. Nixon had refused to declare for

Negroes Enter South's Schools Peacefully

ATLANTA (AP) — The number of Negro students attending former white colleges and universities in the South has increased this summer — and all entered peacefully.

Most schools do not list students by race and that policy may become a factor in easing the integration problem in more sensitive areas in the Deep South.

The Negroes go their way hardly noticed by white students.

It's Different

The campus hardly knows they are around. It was different when federalized National Guardsmen stood by while Gov. George Wallace made his unsuccessful stand in the school day.

Violence erupted at Ole Miss in September 1962 when James Meredith was admitted under court orders. Two white men were killed and hundreds were injured.

Senior Citizens Get a Greeting

FERGUS FALLS, Minn. (AP)

— Minnesota's senior citizens, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Sholberg, will be looking over scores of greeting cards today as a reminder of what that fuss was all about.

Sholberg had his 102nd birthday and his wife her 100th Tuesday. Their daughter, Miss Clara Sholberg, said her parents received scores of letters and cards, "but they haven't had time to look at any of them."

One of the messages came from President Johnson.

There was an all-day open house for the couple, who emigrated from Norway in the 1870s. They were married in 1886. All their eight children were here for the festivities.

1964 Marking Pivotal Year In Integration

Many Southern Schools Graduate Negroes First Time

BY DON MCKEE
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Graduation exercises in some Southern high schools this year mark not only the educational pivot point for students but also a historic stage of desegregation. Three Negroes were graduated from formerly white schools in Birmingham, Ala.—a significant first for what was the nation's big racial battleground only a year ago. Negroes for the first time were among the graduating classes in some Southern high schools. No accurate count can be obtained on over-all Negro and white graduation figures since some school systems keep no racial breakdown. But a survey showed the percentage of Negroes graduating from formerly all-white high schools in the South was very small.

Classroom Problems
There have been no unusual problems in the classrooms and the Negro graduates often are among the top students scholastically.

In Little Rock, Ark., where seven years ago federal troops enforced the initial desegregation

Jacqueline Evans

tion, a Negro girl was graduated with highest honors and was named a presidential scholar.

The girl, Jacquelyn Faye Evans, also was named to the National Honor Society.

A Average
She had an A-plus average in her final year at Little Rock Hall High, a predominantly white school.

Asked if she had any trouble because of her race, she said: "Not very much trouble: in fact, none to speak of."

Did she get a better education at the mostly white school? "I think so, but there is no way I could prove it," she said.

In Tampa, Fla., Willie Strawter, 17, was the first Negro to graduate from a desegregated school—Thomas Jefferson High. He was the school's only Negro, transferring during his junior year.

Excellent Pupil
School officials said Strawter was an excellent pupil, with an A average. He has been accepted by Stetson University at De Land, Fla., for the fall term and plans to major in some branch of science.

"As far as getting along with the other students, everything was fine," he said of his high school experience.

My only problem was with myself. I had to adjust to the way they did things."

An example of the Negro-white student ratio is provided in Arkansas where 20 Negroes are among 1,516 graduates this year. Central High in Little Rock, where Negroes first attended under federal guard has 602 white graduates.

In 1963, there were 10 Negro graduates in formerly white Arkansas schools.

Singing Made Legal In Pubs of Glasgow

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Glasgow, where drinking long has been recognized as a serious business, is going to allow singing in pubs.

Civ magistrates Tuesday approved 123 applications for pub music licenses, the first they have issued. Those who prefer their scotch in silence still can seek refuge in more than 1,000 non-musical pubs.

Many Gifts Put on Grave Of Kennedy

intention of leaving them. Others are spontaneous like the glove removed and dropped on to the grave by a woman.

A group of pupils from a Richmond Va., school trooped slowly past. When they were gone, attendants found a five-dollar bill. Clipped to it was a note—contributed to the Kennedy Memorial Library at Cambridge.

There are, of course, the formal floral pieces. Most of them come from organizations, from church groups, from visiting foreign statesmen or diplomatic missions.

Military Mementos

The military mementos started on the day of Kennedy's burial. A sergeant of the Army Special Forces, standing by the grave when the funeral throng was gone, removed his beret and placed it on the mound.

The other services were quick to follow the sergeant's gesture and the caps of soldiers, sailors, Marines and Air Force men joined the green beret.

Winter storms and summer sun and rain weathered the caps then worked at the fabric.

Johnson Asks For Unity on U.S. Manpower

make sure that the dignity and right to labor is not lost in the currents of change; that every American who wants to work, can work; that industry will not falter because it lacks the men it needs."

The chief executive said more than two million jobs a year are being taken over by machines. He said the rate may increase.

He cited figures indicating that the labor force in the 1960's is increasing 50 per cent faster than in the 1950's, further compounding the job problem.

Fewer Jobs for Unskilled

During the next 15 years there will be no increase in the demand for unskilled labor, although "demand for professional and technical people will go up 65 per cent, for clerical workers 45 per cent," he said.

"The challenge to leadership is clear," he said. "We must continue to expand our economy, creating new jobs. We must provide our workers with education and training to meet the demands of a dynamic industry."

"That is the direction America is moving. That is the way we are going to keep moving. And no person, no group, no party is going to stand in the way of that forward march."

Johnson argued that his legislative program is "not the program of a single group or party, but a program for all Americans."

He said his administration has advanced proposals "to give every citizen an equal chance to hold a job, to vote, to educate his children, to enjoy all the blessings of liberty, whatever his color or race."

Then he went on to plug for other proposals — to combat poverty, to provide medical insurance for the aged, and to extend minimum wage and unemployment benefits.

ROK Journalists May Face Military Trial

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Six South Korean journalists arrested earlier this month during riotous antigovernment demonstrations have been referred to army prosecutors for possible military trial.

The martial law command also announced indictment of three student leaders of the demonstrations on insurrection charges. If convicted, they could get the death penalty.

The command said the news-men were being held on suspicion of giving aid to Communist agitators, spreading malicious falsehoods about the government and reporting an illegal assembly.
